JAPAN RUSHES
NAVY PROGRAM
AT TOP SPEEDRepels Invasion in Sham Sea Battle.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—That Japan is rushing construction of new war craft of the types to which the navy limitation treaty does not apply, and that Japan recently held naval maneuvers predicated on war with the United States were disclosed by the Navy Secretary in a statement made to the house committee on appropriations.

The Japanese navy, Secretary Wilbur said, "has within the last few weeks, engaged in maneuvers on a great scale, involving mobilization of the entire navy. The sum of $2,150,000 was allocated for this purpose in the Japanese budget of 1924-25. These maneuvers were held off the south and east coasts of Japan and represented a naval attack in major strength by a blue fleet advancing against Japan from the south and east."

Committee Hearing Decried.

This is the form in which the secretary's statement appears in the hearings made public yesterday by the committee. It is, however, a summary of much of the discussion in the committee, which was deleted from the published hearing. In this discussion, according to participants, it was taken for granted that the "blue fleet" was intended to represent the American navy.

Although Japan held these maneuvers far-outward of her shores, there is widespread denunciation of the United States in Japan for planning to hold similar maneuvers in the waters of the Hawaiian islands, an American possession, and to send the American navy to Australia afterward on a courtesy visit.

Both Secretary Wilbur and Admiral Eberle told the congressmen the maneuvers and the proposed trip of the fleet to Australia would be of invaluable help to the navy in recruiting, training, and working out contingents at sea, in addition to cementing friendship with the Australians.

Shows Japan's Program.

That Japan has undertaken a large program of building cruisers and other auxiliary naval craft was shown by Mr. Wilbur in the following comparison of the construction in progress in the three navies in the 5-6-3 pact:

At. Unit, U. S. Navy	At. Unit, U. S. Navy	At. Unit, U. S. Navy
Albatross carriers	3	2
Light cruisers	3	1
Misses	4	0
Flight leaders	3	0
Destroyers	2	0
Submarines	3	4

Mr. Wilbur stated that although there had been no marked increase in the personnel of the active navies of leading powers, all of them "are proceeding with the execution of plans to increase the numbers and efficiency of their naval establishments."

"The Japanese," he said, "have recently announced a policy which is intended to insure more economical administration of their naval shore establishments by concentrating work in the larger establishments and reducing to a more or less inactive status their smaller stations."

Tokio's Naval Budget.

"It is to be noted, however, that the present Japanese budget carries an estimate of $64,335 yen for equipment of navy yards and stations and $2,932,148 yen for naval districts, of which latter sum, $1,930,740 yen is to be used for the construction of ships."

Japan is proceeding with vigor to build up her fleet in types not limited by the treaty of Washington," he said. "Recent circumstances have caused some delay in her building program for fleet auxiliaries such as tenders, etc. Japan is active in improving the naval air service."

Death Reveals
"Widower"
Was Woman

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Paul J. Beach, a carpenter, died here yesterday, aged 45. The undertaker discovered today that the corpse was in fact that of a woman. Last May a woman who was married to Beach seven years ago in Stockton, Cal., died here.

Los Angeles authorities searched the carpenter's papers today and reported that Miss Harriet E. Walker of Chicago was an acquaintance. Last May a woman who was married to Beach seven years ago in Stockton, Cal., died here.

They telegraphed to Miss Walker at once, asking her, as the only person whom they could find who was acquainted with the carpenter, what disposition should be made of the body.

A physician who had attended the masquerade was amazed to learn of her real sex. The body, clad in men's clothing, is at an undertaker's here pending word from Miss Walker.

FIND MISS WALKER.

Miss Harriet E. Walker of 5150 Calumet avenue, a clerk employed by Swift & Co. admitted last night she had received news of Beach's death from Los Angeles. She said she had not yet replied.

Miss Walker refused to admit a reporter to the apartment of M. D. Menn Sr., where she rooms.

She intimated she was not engaged to Beach, but would not deny the report from Los Angeles categorically.

CHINESE CIVIL WAR IS ENDED
AS CHI GIVES UP

SHANGHAI, Dec. 15.—[By the Associated Press.]—The end of civil war in China, after four months of fighting, was virtually assured today when abandonment of further resistance to the regime of Tuan Chi-jui on the part of the Yangtze river provinces was made certain by arrival here of the family of Chi Shieh-Yuan, military governor of this province.

Gen. Chi, who was one of the leaders of the forces which besieged Shanghai in September and October, has been at Nanking recently and is reported to have a special train waiting there ready to bring him to this city. Han Kuo-Chun, civil governor of this province, officially took over the reins of government this morning.

The sudden decision on the part of Chi to quit his resistance to the newly constituted government at Peking is declared due to the defection of virtually all of his troops.

The pants were thrown out of the window on the theory, the police believe, that none of the victims would pursue the thieves without him.

CONVICT NEAR FREEDOM AFTER
"GIVING BAIL"Police Cite Case as Court Laxity.

Police officials who have been charging that they have been impeded in their efforts to obtain sure and speedy justice for criminals began a swift and unannounced clinical investigation of the subject yesterday.

Nathan Treger, serving a five year sentence in the penitentiary at Stillwater, (P. Desjardis Photo.) Minn., for rape, was sent to Chicago police so he could be tried here for a murder. Saturday night he was free—for just one minute he was in a cell at the detective bureau and an investigation was under way.

Quarrel Over Wife.

The following facts were revealed: Treger killed Samuel King on April 6, 1922, at 422 Bowen avenue, where King was in bed sleeping. The corner's inquest developed the information that Treger's wife, Lillian, had left him and that he had accused King of being friendly with her. King gave him a beating; Treger went away, procured a revolver, and returned to King's room and killed him. Treger was not apprehended then.

A few weeks ago Sergt. John Cartan learned Treger was in the Minnesota prison. He arranged with the Minnesota pardon board to bring Treger here, though only two years of the five year sentence had been served, with the understanding that if Treger were not convicted here he would be returned to Minnesota to finish his sentence. The prisoner reached here Monday, Dec. 1.

Lyle Grants Him Bail.

The next day Judge Daniel Trude ordered him held without bail on a charge of murder. A continuance was granted on Dec. 10 the matter was on for hearing before Judge John H. Lyle. Aid. Jacob M. Arvey of the Twenty-fourth ward, attorney for Treger, asked Judge John Lyle, a former alderman, to admit Treger to bail and the amount was fixed at $10,000.

Late Saturday night a bond accepted by Hans Thompson, night warden at the county jail, had no other process on which to hold Treger, but, recalling the Minnesota sentence, he notified the detective bureau. Sergts. Walling and Walsh were waiting outside the jail when Treger came out.

A group of Treger's friends protested against his release, saying they would complain to Aid. Arvey. The detectives took him, nevertheless, to the detective bureau, where a technical charge of disorderly conduct was entered against him—just so he could be held.

Calls Crowe Aid.

Assistant State's Attorney Robert McKimlin was called in. He wanted to know why it was necessary to take the prisoner before Judge Lyle. He asked if there hadn't been an inquest, and, if so, and Treger had been held to the grand jury, where was the order committing him to the county jail?

It was learned that a coroner's jury had charged Treger with the murder and recommended an indictment. The police were unable to learn yesterday whether the indictment had been voted. Had there been one, they contended, the proceedings before Judge Lyle would not have been undertaken.

The question was raised why there had been so many continuances—Judge Lyle having now set Jan. 8 as the date for preliminary hearing. The answer was that the police were unable to marshal all their witnesses the first hearing day, Dec. 2.

Facts About Bail.

Examination of the bail accepted by Judge Luster showed these facts: John Albert Nellis, a tailor, and his wife, Jennie, scheduled their home at 1943 North Mayfield avenue as surety for Treger. A $30,000 value should have been required, but it was discretionary with the judge. The Nellises valued the building at $15,000, though admitting they had purchased it in 1922 for $11,000. There is a $2,000 mortgage on it.

Assistant State's Attorney McKimlin said he would endeavor to obtain an indictment today, thus expediting the proceedings and relieving Judge Lyle and Luster of further jurisdiction.

Lawyer's Car
Plunges Down
30-Foot Bank

John Prendergast, attorney for the Checker Taxicab company and prominent in legal circles, was found dead at 6 o'clock yesterday morning beneath the wreckage of his automobile.

The machine had crashed through a heavy wooden fence, erected at a sharp curve in the River road two miles from Schiller Park, and had plunged down a thirty feet down an embankment.

Mr. Prendergast JOHN PRENDERGAST was on his way to his home in Wheaton from the offices of the Checker company, where he had been working late into the night in recent weeks.

Light Missing, Claim.

Mrs. Prendergast said he had telephoned to her late on Saturday night that he was leaving for home. She had been worried because of the late hours his work had imposed on him, and was unable to sleep after he telephoned. She was awake when the news of his death came.

Police were at a loss to explain the tragedy. Chief of Police Frank J. Schalkowski of Schiller Park was of the opinion Prendergast had crashed into the fence in trying to avoid collision with another machine, or that he had been blinded by the glare of a headlight and was unable to see the road.

Richard Prendergast, former state representative, a brother of the dead man, charged that the accident was the direct result of a failure on the part of the authorities to replace a light which greatly reduced the danger of the curve. This light, he said, was knocked down some weeks ago.

Family Long Prominent.

The victim came from a prominent Chicago family. His father, Richard Prendergast, was county judge and the first president of the sanitary district.

On March 30, 1910, he married Miss Marcia Kettelle, granddaughter of former Judge Kettelle. There are four daughters—Marcia, Abigail, Winifred, and Mary—who spent Saturday afternoon in Chicago helping their father buy Christmas presents. He put them aboard a train for Wheaton and then returned to the Checker cab office.

Body Found by Taxi Man.

Mr. Prendergast's body was found by J. J. Durkin, a chauffeur for the Ace Taxicab company, who noticed the smashed fence and stopped to see what had caused the damage. He summoned the Schiller Park police.

Plans for the funeral are still indefinite, but according to Richard Prendergast it will probably be held tomorrow from Holy Name cathedral.

Pray for Beth.

Mrs. Shaw and her grandson came into the bedroom just then, and both knelt and prayed for the fatherless son. The police were notified and they took all into custody. Last night they held only George and Miss Brady, who is regarded as a material witness.

George Shaw enlisted in the marines when only 15 years old, his parents said. He was wounded and named as Chateau Thierry and was sent to a hospital. In a few days he fled the hospital and rejoined his regiment, and was again wounded, gassed and shot at St. Mihiel.

Since then he has been under treatment at every marine hospital in the country. He was last at the Spanish hospital, from which his father had him discharged, so he could be treated at home.

Noted as a Trapper.

Mr. Shaw is known to some as an inventor and manufacturer of traps. He is a native of Chicago. He spent several winters in Chicago, in pursuit of his trapping hobby. When his son Robert married a French girl several years ago Mr. Shaw sent her a coat of eight mink fur he had gathered.

Mr. Shaw was president of the automobile accessories manufacturer company bearing his name. He was also the inventor and motor of the Shaw hot-airing trap for automobiles.

Brother Took of Trip.

The brother, Robert, last saw George and his sister stepped at his home at 145 Oak Park avenue for a few moments before they went home separately early Sunday morning.

He said he had endeavored to locate good girl between his brother and Bruce A. Shaw, wealthy Oak Park inventor and manufacturer, was fatally stabbed with a saber yesterday by his son George, a shell shocked veteran of the world war. The wound, which resulted in Mr. Shaw's death at 12:30 o'clock this morning, was inflicted after a struggle between father and son at their home, 522 Belfort avenue, Oak Park, in a bedroom occupied by Shaw's daughter, Mrs. Marie Ayers, and shared by her with Miss Hazel Brady of Bloomington, Ill., who has been staying at 113 Homs avenue, Oak Park.

The young folks had been drinking at a roadhouse in Melrose Park, called the Playground, and the stabbing occurred soon after their arrival home at 4 o'clock in the morning.

Tries to Shield Son.

The elder Shaw, though dying, sought to shield his son, then minimized his responsibility in these words: "He is crazy, shell shocked. He has been a psycho-neurotic since the war and has been in many sanitariums."

Lieut. Fred Onkahn and Benjamin Baransa obtained this story of the events preceding the tragedy.

Saturday night, George, who is 31 years old, and his sister, Mrs. Ayers, aged 25, and the brother of a 6 year old boy, left their home together. They picked up Miss Brady, who is a student at the Central School of Beauty Culture, in their automobile, and obtained some wine before they started for the roadhouse. Earl Todd, 1138 Ontario street, an employee of the Walgreen drug store, had arranged to meet them at the Playground when he finished work at midnight.

Miss Vivian Foyner, 311 Franklin avenue, Forest Park, and William Swenfin, 630 North Kanawha avenue, Oak Park, joined the merry party at the Playground.

George and Sister Quarrel.

About 3 a. m. George and his sister quarreled. He took Miss Brady with him, as it had been arranged that she was to sleep with Mrs. Ayers, to his home. Todd and Mrs. Ayers arrived at the Shaw home soon after the two girls proceeded to Mrs. Ayers' room.

George went into the girls' room and became disorderly. His father was awakened and came quickly to the room. He tried to induce George to leave the room and finally resorted to force. George resisted.

The saber which George had brought back as a souvenir was near by. He seized it and thrust the point into his father's breast. Mr. Shaw withdrew the saber himself and the girls telephoned for a physician.

Mrs. Shaw and her grandson came into the bedroom just then, and both knelt and prayed for the fatherless son. The police were notified and they took all into custody. Last night they held only George and Miss Brady, who is regarded as a material witness.

CHIEF CANCELS 10 HOUR DAY AS CRIME SLUMPS

CAPT. JOHN STEGE.

The ten hour working day for Chicago police remained in effect for less than five days. It was changed by Chief Collins yesterday to a nine hour day, but the off day each week has not yet been restored.

While the chief made no explanation of his order, which took effect immediately, it was the general view in the police department that he was showing his satisfaction over the progress of the campaign against crime.

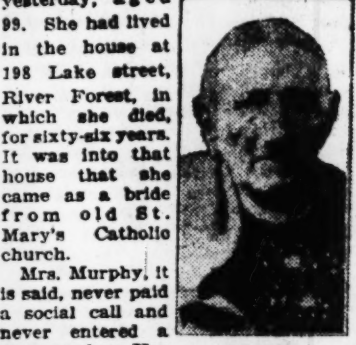

It was pointed out by Capt. John Stege that scarcely a dozen holdups were reported over the week end and although the number usually is two or three times as great.

Under the new order, the men reporting a 5 p. m. will be relieved at 2 a. m. The shift which this week has been reporting at 10 p. m. and working until 8 a. m. will go on duty an hour later, while the day force will be on duty from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. with two hours off for lunch.

"Perhaps if the police keep up the good work and crime continues to show a decrease, the chief will reduce the hours back to the old eight hour day."

VILLAGE MOTHER OF RIVER FOREST DIES AT AGE OF 99

Mrs. Ann Murphy, known as the village mother of River Forest, died yesterday, aged 99. She had lived in the house at 198 Lake street, River Forest, in which she died, for sixty-six years.

MRS. ANN MURPHY.

Mrs. Murphy, it is said, never paid a social call and never entered a store or shop. Her husband, John Murphy, did all the marketing until his death four years ago at the age of 85. Since then her daughter, Miss Mary Murphy, has been caring for her mother's needs.

Mrs. Murphy is survived by four other daughters, Mrs. Margaret Gordon, Mrs. Anna Hight, Mrs. Hanna Faulkner, and Mrs. M. J. Finn.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed, but the services will probably be held at St. Luke's church, in the shadow of which Mrs. Murphy lived so long.

The chief's order was issued just as he was boarding a train for Washington, where he is to attend Secretary Hoover's conference on highway accidents.

IDENTIFY FIVE SEIZED IN FLAT AS HOLDUP BAND

Victims of six robberies identified five men arrested yesterday in an apartment building at 43d street and Michigan avenue as the bandits who had held them up.

All the prisoners were armed when captured, but the police worked so swiftly none of the suspects was able to draw a weapon.

The five under arrest are James Prendergast, 530 West 51st place; Vernon Smith, 28 North Bishop street; James McCarthy, 725 West 58th street; Edward Peleigo, and Joseph O'Brien, 216 East 31st street.

Scott of 2241 Berwyn avenue and Earl A. Clement of 1813 Sunnyside avenue, the two men, rushed the girl in a taxicab to the Lake View hospital. She begged them not to tell her husband, with whom she said she had quarreled.

MARTIN H. GLYNN, EX-GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK, DEAD

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 14.—Martin H. Glynn, former governor of New York, died suddenly at his home here today. Death was pronounced due to heart trouble, probably an outcome of a spinal disease of long standing.

Although best known in his home state as editor, lawyer, controller, lieutenant governor, and governor, Mr. Glynn believed his greatest services were his efforts in behalf of Ireland.

David Lloyd George, former premier of England, gave former Gov. Glynn credit for having done more than any man to bring about the present Irish Free State.

Former Gov. Glynn was also credited with having done much to bring about the election of President Wilson in 1916 through his eloquent speech before the Democratic national convention in which he originated the phrase, "he kept us out of war."

Mr. Glynn was elected lieutenant governor in 1913 on the Democratic ticket. With the removal of Gov. William Sulzer by a court of impeachment in 1913 he became governor. He was beaten for reelection in 1914 by Charles S. Whitman.

When Christmas Brings Them Parker Duofold

The Over-size Pen with 25-Year Point The Black-tipped Lacquer-red Classic

WHEN your loved ones spy the Duofold's cheery color Christmas morning, they will know in a flash that you give from the heart! For they know Parker Duofold is the finest pen any one could give them. A classic in shapeliness, a positive treasure for balance, with a color that's handsomer than gold and makes this a hard pen to lose.

Yet more famous still is its 25-year point—a point of polished Iridium, set in extra thick gold. The tip alone costs us $2340 a pound. That's three times the cost of ordinary pen tips.

It's a point that suits all hands, and one dares to lend at will. For no style of writing can distort it. It's guaranteed 25 years for mechanical perfection and wear!

Most of these facts are widely known. So be careful to give the genuine Parker Duofold. Anything less, a copy or imitation, is apt to seem ungallant. Nest Gold Pocket-clip or Gold Ribbon-ring included free. Also the strong Gold Girdle around the cap—the last loving touch. This was $1 extra until sweeping demand scaled down our cost per pen. Duofold is really a $10 value for $7.

Look on the pen for the stamp, "Geo. S. Parker—DUOFOLD—Lucky Curve." Look carefully and protect yourself and your friends from deceptions.

IN MOSCOW TROTSKY GOES TO EXILE, REPORT

Friends of Red War Chief Battle Cheka.

BY GEORGE SELDES.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
MOSCOW, Dec. 14.—Riots broke out in Moscow during an ovation to Leon Trotsky, who was taking a train for Crimea, last Monday morning, according to newspaper reports. For the first time in many years the Russians dared oppose the Cheka terrorism.

"MADE A MISTAKE"

[Continued.] MOSCOW, Dec. 14.—Leon Trotsky, ruthless Jewish thinker and co-creator with Lenin of the communist state over which they jointly ruled, is a bedridden invalid, powerless in the party he helped father and exiled from its councils, perhaps forever. Trotsky has "made a mistake," and for that he must suffer, an internationally known member of the communist party explained in discussing Trotsky's true status within the party and his probable fate.

The man who explained the strange plight of the formerly puissant war minister is one of the leaders of the soviet union. He knows whereof he speaks, for he was one of the handful of men who determined what Trotsky's punishment was to be. For reasons of "party discipline," this spokesman explained that his name could not be used in connection with his own explanation of the situation at Moscow.

Keeps Offices but No Power.

Trotsky is not to be removed from the various high offices to which he has been promoted by his friend and comrade, Lenin. He is not to be permitted to withdraw from the communist party with which he is identified. He is to be allowed to continue to be a member of the communist state.

Like a tired mouse hunched before the jaws of a cat, Trotsky is to be retained in the communist party, continued in office but shorn of his power. Controlled by the vast Red army which he built with his own hands and brain has been shifted to others, although Trotsky re-

MUNDELEIN VISITS OLD ST. JOHN'S

Cardinal Mundelein yesterday paid an official visit to old St. John's at 18th and Clark streets. It was his first visit since the church recently was reopened as a "church for the stranger." Churchmen from all parts of the city attended the impressive services. At the left of the cardinal is Robert E. Sweitzer, and at the right Anthony Czarnecki, Knights of St. Gregory.

MODERN WOMAN TOO MODEST, COUNTESS RHONDDA DECLARES

LONDON, Dec. 14.—[United News.]—Many people have offered suggestions as to what is wrong with the modern woman, but Viscountess Rhondda, today said, "The modern woman is far too modest. Modesty prevents the modern woman from doing her work as well as she might," she declared. "Perhaps this modesty is inherent in the feminine nature, but I hope not. Anyway the result of it is that all through life a woman leads on some one else, and thereby is prevented from doing original work. Women are made even more modest because nearly all the star turns are done by men. I do not think this will last."

OLD ST. JOHN'S STARTS ANEW; MUNDELEIN AIDS

Church Offers Service to Workers.

A great crowd, including 100 priests, twelve monsignori and many prominent Catholic laymen, yesterday attended St. John's Catholic church, Eighteenth and Clark streets, on the occasion of an official visit to the old but newly remade church by His Eminence Cardinal Mundelein.

St. John's is a commanding Gothic stone church which was once the center of a fine residential community. By removals and changing environment, the work of the parish declined until Cardinal Mundelein placed the church in charge of the Rev. Mr. W. D. O'Brien, acting president of the church extension society, assisted by other priests of the society.

An expenditure of $25,000 has been made in restoring and beautifying the church and organ. In his address, followed by the apostolic benediction, Cardinal Mundelein urged young people living in boarding houses without residential family connections with any other parish and working men and women whose hours prevent them from attending mass elsewhere, to make St. John's their church home. The church is without parish bounds and all who can be served by the church are accorded a welcome, he said.

Preceding the service at the church a procession was formed at the First Regiment armory at 18th street and Michigan avenue and acted as an escort to the cardinal.

ILLINOIS GIDEONS' PRESIDENT RESIGNS; STRAIN TOO GREAT

Ernest L. Vogel of Wheaton, Ill., announced yesterday his resignation as president of the Illinois Gideons, known officially as the Christian Commercial Travelers, a position he has held for years. He stated he could no longer afford to give the time and money required, but would have to devote more time to his business as a traveling salesman.

"One of the big jobs of the Gideons has been placing Bibles in hotels," he said. "The hotels now being built or projected in Chicago have laid on me a bigger strain than I can bear. The people are appealed to in so many ways that it is hard to raise money. The hundreds of dollars I have advanced I will probably get back, but I feel I must quit."

R. R. Conductor Dies as He Saves Passengers' Lives

Chickasha, Okla., Dec. 14.—James Higginson, 62, of Oklahoma City, conductor on a St. Louis and San Francisco railway passenger train, was fatally injured Sunday afternoon while directing passengers to safety when fire destroyed two coaches of his train.

SEEK WOMAN THREE OTHERS IN SCALPER SCHEME

She Posed as Waterfall Agency Aid, Charge.

Investors in the $200,000 ticket scalping syndicate that went wrong yesterday prepared to take further action today to discover just who victimized them. They were insistent that the police make a search for Mrs. Maybelle Fuller Douglas, who had an active part in the scheme, but the detective bureau was not that much interested.

"Get a warrant and then we'll act," was the ultimatum.

Capt. Bruce Douglas, the woman's husband, was released on bonds and took a room at the Palmer House. Persons interested in learning the whereabouts of his wife were reported to have dogged his footsteps and listened in on telephone calls in the hope he would disclose her place of seclusion.

He didn't, he said, because he doesn't know. He declared he knew nothing about any quick money scheme in which his wife was entangled and couldn't understand why he had been arrested.

Tricked, Say Investors.

The investors, besides seeking Mrs. Douglas, declared they had obtained evidence that she had deliberately tricked them. She used to purchase theater tickets at the Waterfall agency in the Palmer house and have them left at the box offices of the various theaters in the names of those who believed she was a big league scalper, they charge.

This was done, they asserted, to further the impression that she was actually investing their money in the ticket scalping syndicate and that she was a controlling factor in the Waterfall agency. She was not a factor in the business, the Waterfall agency said last night.

Little further light was thrown on the alleged flights into high finance of Mrs. Douglas, which were assisted, according to her own statement, by three mysterious young men. These youths, known to police as Bert Williams, E. W. [Ted] Shaw, and "Andy" Andrews, are also being sought.

Held Parleys in Whispers.

Outside of expressing their determination to bring charges against Mrs. Douglas, those who declare she caused them to lose thousands of dollars had little to say.

Many whispered conferences were held behind closed doors, but further action was lacking. No move has yet been made, so far as could be learned, to get a warrant for Mrs. Douglas. It was intimate no direct evidence has come to light connecting Douglas with her operations, but the investors appear determined to hold him.

No trace of Mrs. Douglas was found in De Kalb, her old home, nor in Aurora, where for a time she lived with her sister, Mrs. William Barker. Mrs. Barker, it was said, is in California.

WORLD FLYER TO GO AROUND AGAIN, THIS TIME AS A LECTURER

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—"Smiling Jack" Harding, one of America's Magellans of the air, who recently flew around the globe, is going to circumnavigate the world again. After the world flyers had arrived back in Washington at the conclusion of their triumphal tour of the principal cities of this country they were entertained and fêted night and day. So worn out were the boys when they finally got their planes back to Dayton that they said they guessed they would have to fly around the world again to rest up and escape from the hospitality of their countrymen.

"Smiling Jack," who flew with Erik Nelson in the New Orleans, is the first to put his thoughts into action. Jack has just signed a contract with a firm whereby he is to tour the United States and Canada this winter, after spring telling the story of the world flight from the platform. Then after that he will tour every English speaking country. His spoken story of the first flight around the world will be accompanied by pictures, many of which he took himself. Lieut. Harding will be accompanied by Mr. Lowell Thomas, historian of the world flight.

Dresden, Germany, Votes Free Funerals for Citizens

DRESDEN, Germany, Dec. 14.—[By the Associated Press.]—By a vote of 35 to 26 the city council of Dresden has passed a resolution to provide free burials for its citizens. The motion introduced by the Communists, found sufficient support among the nonpartisan deputies, although the bourgeois parties solidly opposed it.

ACQUAINTANCE OF ABDUCTION

BUFFALO KIN FORMED TO PRESERVE NAME

New York, Dec. 14.—Relatives of the late Col. William Frederick Cody (Buffalo Bill) have organized themselves into an incorporated entity, the Cody family, for the purpose of "protecting and preserving" the name of the famed American chief of scouts. It was announced tonight. All the blood kindred of Buffalo Bill comprise the organization, whose honorary president is Mrs. Julia Cody Goodman, 32, sister.

The Cody family is preparing a history of the life of Buffalo Bill and has issued an appeal for data connected with the subject in the possession of any person in the United States.

HUBBY DANCES WITH GIRL; WIFE SHOOT UP PARTY

Nobody Hurt, but Bullet Hits Diamond.

Frank Butterfield loves his wife, but it's such a lot of fun to dance with a girl who tickles a fellow in the ribs all the time she's dancing.

Such is the simple explanation Butterfield gave yesterday to the events that led up to his wife's attempt to shoot up the birthday party Edward Mulder gave in his apartment at 2425½ Elaine place last Saturday night. It was a nice party, every one says, and no one enjoyed it more than Butterfield and Miss Caroline Rehberg, 24 years old, with whom Butterfield admits he had danced most of the evening—before his wife brought the party to a sudden close.

Live in Same Building.
Both the Butterfields and Miss Rehberg live in the building where the party was given. All three will appear this morning in the Sheffield avenue police court to review the events that led up to the six shots Mrs. Butterfield fired through the dining room door, toward the party where her husband was dancing dance after dance with a girl ten years younger than himself and laughing all the time so that he couldn't see that his wife was being a wall flower.

Though Mrs. Butterfield fired the gun straight at the door and into the bay party, there are no charges against her of hitting any one.

Knocks Out Diamond.

Butterfield was grazed by one bullet that ricocheted from a diamond ring he wore on his left hand. The diamond was knocked out and the bullet went its way. Miss Rehberg, who caused all the trouble, according to both Butterfield and his wife, showed a little red welt on her upper lip which smarted like a powder burn. The other four bullets fired by the wife have not been accounted for. Butterfield said that he and his wife are on the best of terms, and that he's sorry he neglected her at the party.

$900 in Liberty Bonds Are Unclaimed by Sailors

There are bonds of the second liberty loan, totaling $900, at the Illinois Merchants bank waiting to be claimed by men who served at the Great Lakes Naval station during the war. These bonds were paid for but never claimed. They can be obtained upon presentation of satisfactory identification. A number of sailors paid part of the sum due on bonds and may obtain their refunds at the bank, it was announced by Capt. Waldo Evans, commanding the station.

"PLAIN DOCTORS" STATE'S WEAPON FOR HIGHT TRIAL

Mount Vernon, Ill., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Plain hard-boiled, hard working country doctors and noted alienists will face each other this week over the sanity of Lawrence M. Hight, former clerkman of Ina, who went philandering and ended on trial for murder.

LAWRENCE M. HIGHT.

Hight, 31, and Mrs. Elsie Sweetin, 32, are charged with the poisoning of Wilford Sweetin, her husband. The preacher has also confessed killing his wife. Attorney Nelson M. Layman, defending Hight, has an insanity plea. He will call some well known experts in psychiatry from Chicago and St. Louis. The prosecutor holds that the local practitioners are well qualified to judge whether or not the parson could distinguish right from wrong.

"Understand me," says Thompson "I have the greatest respect for alienists who give their lives to the study of the mysteries of the sick human mind. But I feel that these local doctors know when a man can tell right from wrong."

ARREST DELAYS LEADING ORATOR AT SOUP SOIREE

The principal speaker at yesterday's grand concert and soup soiree at the Hobo's heaven was arrested for begging while on his way to the party. Happily Chuck Connors was released in time to outline the difficulties of his profession. He said he was the most successful panhandler in Chicago, but his earnings averaged only $5 a day. The Hobo's heaven is the former Granville hotel at 2861 Grand boulevard. The lessors turned it into a free lodging house when neighbors threatened to have it closed.

Dr. Ben Reiman, who poured, assisted by several young women, assured the guests that the overhead expenses, amounting to $75 a day, are being met regularly by the genial lease holders.

BIND GUARD; GET $5,000 LOOT.
Groceries and cigars valued at $5,000 were stolen from the wholesale house of Giuseppe Natolino, 118 South Green street, early yesterday morning. Four men bound and gagged the watchman and loaded the goods on a truck.

CUBAN MEMORIAL TO T. R. UNVEILED BY HIS WIDOW

Island Loves Teddy, Zayas Says.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Dec. 14.—[By the Associated Press.]—President Zayas, speaking at the dedication today of the memorial erected in honor of Theodore Roosevelt, said:

"The love and devotion of the Cuban people for Theodore Roosevelt will live in their hearts longer than the bronze bust and the granite base unveiled in his honor here today can possibly last."

Honor Rough Riders.
The monument is erected to Roosevelt as colonel of the 1st United States volunteer cavalry, otherwise known as the Rough Riders, in the Spanish-American war. It stands on a site provided by the municipality of Santiago leading to San Juan hill, where the most noted exploits of the Rough Riders were enacted.

Mrs. Roosevelt, widow of the Rough Riders' colonel, drew aside the flag which enshrouded the monument, while army and navy officers stood at salute and the government officials and civilians uncovered.

Officials on Hand.
The American ambassador, Enoch H. Crowder, and Maj. W. H. Shuman, military attaché, many officials of the Cuban government, army officers and officers from the cruiser Galveston, which had been ordered to Santiago for the occasion, attended the ceremonies, as well as representatives of various associations, including the American Legion. A detachment of Cuban cavalry acted as guard of honor.

After the unveiling of the memorial a visit was paid to San Juan hill, where stands the tree under which peace was signed. An elaborate reception was given tonight by Gov. Barcena of Oriente province.

FAILS TO HIS DEATH.
Frank Sorenson, 1405 East 63d place, a carpenter, fell twelve feet on his head from the roof of a garage he was building at 7741 Ingleside avenue yesterday. He died at the Michael Reese hospital.

Dr. S. M. Melamed, retiring editor of the Courier, who presided, said he had received word that the body of Dr. M. Shenkin, the Zionist leader who was killed in a wreck here some months ago, had arrived in Palestine. The funeral, he said, would be attended by 75,000.

A second airplane flight for Gwen-dolyn Caswell, of 5730 South Halsted street, the girl who partially recovered her voice and hearing a week ago when taken on a plane trip, proved more successful than the first yesterday at the Aero club field.

Burt D. Burley, the pilot, again flew to an altitude of 5,000 feet and made three nose dives. The two were in the air 15 minutes. Upon landing, Miss Caswell was able to speak distinctly and declared there was a marked improvement in her hearing.

Effects of the first flight appeared to be permanent, and Burley has offered to give another treatment next Sunday. Miss Caswell has been deaf and dumb for nineteen years.

LOVES HUSBAND, BUT HIS WHIMS DRIVE HER AWAY

Isabelle Alberts, the 31 year old wife of a young musician, for the last six months had been telling her sister that she loved her husband so that she could not endure the thought of life without him, but that his temperamental fits of depression and irritability were making life with him an impossible thing.

"If I should be away from him, I would surely die, and yet life cannot continue with him," as it is," she said many times in the last six months, to her sister, Mrs. Katherine Markoff, 1191 Humboldt boulevard.

So, Friday afternoon, when Herman Alberts, the 25 year old teacher of music, returned to his home at 1224 South St. Louis avenue, he found a letter from his wife saying that she was going away.

WORLD GIRDERS HEAR THEIR LOST LEADER IS FOUND

News Comes as They Wait
Hop-off at Attu.

BY LOWELL THOMAS.
(Copyright, 1934, by The Chicago Tribune
Newspapers Syndicate and the McClure Newspapers Syndicate.)

"During our first days away out here on the island of Attu, the most westerly bit of land connected with the American continent, we have been living on board the little Bureau of Fisheries boat, the Elder," wrote "Smiling Jack" Harding in his diary. "Three of the officers, including Capt. Paul Beck, have turned their backs over to Smith, Nelson, and Wade, while the other three of us have been sleeping down in the fo'c'sle. Capt. Beck, incidentally, is one of the stand-out characters we have had. His long years of seafaring experience, combined with the intense enthusiasm he has shown over our adventures, has often made us feel that we were not alone. For instance, in several places where we wanted to attach 200 pound anchors to the planes, he insisted on putting down 400 pound ones, and in each case his superior judgment has saved us from having the ships torn from their moorings and driven out to sea by the waves."

"When Barometer Drops, It Drops." Here in Attu when the barometer starts to fall, it frequently goes away down to 28.5, the lowest I have ever seen it. Our old friends, the willies, have been performing for us again today and, if anything, they have been the worst that we have ever seen them. And that's saying a lot. They made the sea so rough this morning that we couldn't even balance ourselves on our planes and we had to hustle aboard the Elder. Here on Capt. Beck's steamer, we were only about a hundred yards from the plane. Each time a willie-waw hits us, the little Elder seems to wobble. And each time this happened, we all rushed to the port, expecting to see at least one of the planes blown away. Donald Douglas certainly did a marvelous job when he built these world cruisers. When a willie-waw hits them, instead of hopping up and down as you would expect them to do, they simply seem to push their noses into the wind and hold on tight to the waves. We have spent the whole afternoon dashing back and forth to the portholes, expecting to see the planes torn from their moorings. Thanks to Capt. Beck, they were moored secure enough to ride out every gust that has come so far."

U. S. Farthest West

"May 11. While doing this morning, I heard some of the members of the crew of the Elder conversing in low tones about the Major and Harvey having been found. For a time I thought I was dreaming. But when it dawned on me that what I heard was real I leaped out of my bunk with a bound. It seemed almost too good to be true. But the boys told me that Port Moller had broadcast the sudden arrival of the lost crew of the Sea-ten last night, that the Haida had caught the message and tried to relay it to us, and that they had only succeeded in picking up the Elder at 3 o'clock this morning. Well, it's great news and we are all mighty relieved. Although Washington ordered us to proceed with the flight, and although we had done everything possible to aid in the search by getting every boat in these waters to scour the shore of the Alaskan peninsula and by getting men with dog teams to comb the interior, we all hated the idea of going on before the search was over."

"The rough weather and obstacles the rest of us have encountered seem insignificant to us when we think what the Major and Harvey must have gone through. They have had enough trouble and hard luck to make up for all the rest of us the remainder of the night all the way round the globe.

One-Sixth of Trip Over. "This is still another day of rain and woe. The cutter Haida has just arrived off the island, but the harbor entrance is too treacherous for a boat of her size, so she is remaining outside in the open sea. Immediately after anchoring, she sent one of her boats to confirm the glorious news that Martin and Harvey are safe at Port Moller Cannery. All along we have felt that they would surely get back alive. Even after a week had passed we lost none of our confidence, but after ten days, and then eleven days, we began to grow more and more uneasy. We have missed them more than we can say and it's mighty tough that they are not here to push on with us. Although we have flown over a lot of wild country, away out here at Attu we are only a little more than a sixth of the way around the globe.

"Not only is Attu the uttermost point of America, an island way out here on the edge of nothing, but its inhabitants are of the lowest breed of human life belonging to North America. The population of Attu is exactly fifty-nine, all Aleuts. The day we arrived there was no one here in Chichagoff excepting twenty-four women and girls and one crocheting patriarch. Leigh being the abelk of the party, we have renamed the town 'Wade's Paradise,' in his honor.

Natives Live in Caves. "The harbor is well sheltered with mountains all around it, except volcanoes of course. The village consists of three wooden shacks and a number of barracks, native huts which the Aleuts burrow in under the surface of the ground. The roofs are made of dirt and sod and sort of half domed shape. Each barrack has one lone window and from six to eight people live down there in a space about eight by ten feet. Here they cook, eat and sleep, and each of these Aleut caves, designed to protect the inhabitants from the willies-waws, is absolutely airtight. We all thought we would like to visit one. Les, being a bold spirit, opened the door and the rest of us started to walk in, but the air was stifling. We simply couldn't breathe, so we beat a hasty retreat and did the rest of our examining of barracks by long distance. Leigh is the only one of us who has been invited to dine with them. But not caring for fish he has declined.

"These curious native huts at Chicagoff look more like storm cellars than like places where people live. The cramped quarters down there under the ground are divided into two tiny little rooms. The first one is filled with clothes, harpoons, jerked meat, dried fish, and all sorts of odds and ends. The partition between this and the 'living room' is usually a curtain made of skins. There the old Aleut women with their wrinkled, weather-beaten faces squat weaving baskets or making garments out of hides.

"Hold Up" on Baskets. "These Attu baskets are world famous and so few of them are made that they are both rare and expensive. The traders usually get them for from three to four dollars each. But as a result of their having heard some weeks ago through Capt. Bissell that the coast guard cutter Haida was coming in, they boosted the price up to from ten to fifteen dollars. So when we arrived and discovered the situation in the local market we decided to wait for the Haida, and thus we all got together and held out until today they finally dropped back down to their normal price.

"There are only three wooden buildings on this barren island; one is the little Russian church which the Aleuts attend, and the other two belong to Mr. Schroeder, who controls the trading rights to Attu.

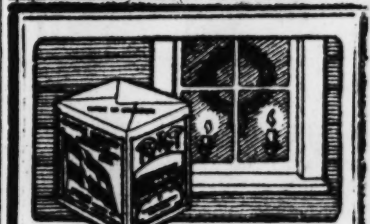

"After the Elder left Attu to take up a position midway between here and the nearest islands off the coast of Asia, from where she can send us weather reports, we moved ashore to Schroeder's house and were delighted to find an excellent library. Our revenue cutter friends from the Haida have just come in and set up a portable radio outfit. The poles are on a hill near by and the wires have been run right down here to the trading post. Although with this outfit we can only send messages for a couple of hundred miles, we can receive from a much longer distance.

Radio Great Help. "If the truth were known, the radio has played a really vital part in our success so far. In the first place, if anything happens just as in the case of Maj. Martin and Sgt. Harvey, radio is the one and only way of sending for help and getting it in time. Secondly, in hopping for hundreds of miles through the skies over uninhabited regions, it is of the utmost importance to find out what the weather conditions are at various points along the route just before starting. Then, of course, there is the third advantage of our being able to send daily messages all the way back to America reporting on our progress.

Weather Man a Life Saver. "Here in this region, where the weather is nearly always indescribably bad," says Lieut. Smith, "I hardly know what we would have done without our weather wizard, Maj. William H. Blair of the signal corps, who has been living up here on the 'Elder' simply in order that we might proceed from point to point with the minimum of danger and delay. Maj. Blair certainly deserves his reputation as one of the foremost meteorologists in the world. So accurate have been his forecasts that, except for swarming and hoping that Maj. Martin would catch up with us, we would have been able to have taken advantage of every possible flying day. The major has usually kept ahead of us several hundred miles and he has made his observations largely with the use of his theodolite and with toy balloons made of pure rubber and filled with hydrogen so they will ascend at the rate of 200 yards a minute. What the major does is to send up a balloon, take observations each minute for about fifteen minutes with the aid of the theodolite, and then by simple trigonometry figure out the direction and velocity of the winds in the upper air."

GOMPERS RITES AT NEW YORK AT 9 A. M. THURSDAY

Route of Funeral Train
Lined with Mourners.

New York, Dec. 14.—Funeral services for Samuel Gompers will be held at the Elks lodge in West 43d street, at 9 a. m. Thursday, it was announced today by Hugh Frayne, who has charge of funeral arrangements. The religious services will be conducted by Rabbi Stephen A. Wise, and the address will be delivered by James Duncan, first vice president of the American Federation of Labor.

The religious services in the lodge rooms will conform to the Elks ritual, while those at the grave, in Sleepy Hollow cemetery, will follow the Masonic ritual.

A large delegation of American Federation of Labor officials, composed of representatives of the building trades, metal trades, labor and railway department, will leave Washington tomorrow, Mr. Frayne said, to meet the funeral train on its arrival at Cincinnati Tuesday morning and accompany the body home.

Tribute Paid En Route.
Aboard Gompers' Funeral Train, Parsons, Kas., Dec. 14.—(By the Associated Press.)—The train bearing the body of Samuel Gompers to New York for burial wended its way eastward tonight after a day marked by outpourings of those who wished to pay their respects at the various stations passed between San Antonio and the Kansas line.

From Parsons the train proceeded towards St. Louis, where it was set to arrive at 7:30 Monday morning. Even after dark large crowds were found at every station, bent on obtaining a last look at the famous leader of men.

Wagon loads of flowers had been taken aboard the funeral car in addition to the tributes which buried the coffin when the train left San Antonio.

To Lie in State at Capital.
Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—The body of Samuel Gompers will be taken to the headquarters of the American Federation of Labor immediately upon its arrival here, and will lie there in state from 4 until 10:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Illinois Legion Pays Tribute.
Bloomington, Ill., Dec. 14.—(Special.)—At a special meeting of the executive committee of the American Legion of Illinois here today, resolutions were adopted upon the death of Samuel Gompers, saying "the removal from the nation's service of this man of proven greatness is a loss which will be felt in the nation for many years, due to the fact that he has always been a loyal supporter of the nation's ideals and institutions."

TRIBUTE OF MEXICANS

Mexico City, Dec. 14.—"Samuel Gompers belonged to the America, not to the United States alone," said a leader today at labor headquarters, where flags are at half mast.

"He made himself one of us and we took him to our hearts," he continued. President Calles said: "The death of Mr. Gompers has sealed forever in bonds the union ties binding the United States and Mexico together."

Señor Luis Morones, the newly elected vice president of the Pan-American Labor union, becomes automatically president of the organization, thus assuring the constructive policy of Mr. Gompers.

A New Note in Bank Advertising and What It Means to You

THE modern bank of today is, in reality, a great financial department store. It "sells goods" just as truly as does any State Street department store or other merchant. Indeed, from the beginning to the end—and even beyond the end, in the case of its Trust Department—does the modern bank serve the diverse needs of mankind.

¶ The department store sells you a piece of furniture, a suit of clothes or a diamond ring, but very possibly the bank "sold" you the money to pay for that item. In most cases this latter "sale" is not apparent, for it may be the bank "sold" that commodity simply by creating in you the desire to possess it and making it possible for you to save systematically the money that bought it. But the "sale" is there even though it may not appear on the surface.

¶ People save, as a rule, for some definite purpose. They save to buy a home, or a farm, or an automobile, or to send their children to college. They save to buy a rug for the parlor or an electric washing machine for the laundry. Only a miser saves for the sake of money itself. All other people save to improve their condition in life, or the condition of their families.

¶ Therefore, what a bank really "sells" is not saving in the abstract—not miserliness—but the results of saving. It "sells" pianos and threshing machines, locomotives and bath tubs, and even the proprietorship of a business itself, because people have the desire to possess—the desire to get ahead—the ambition to succeed financially. These are the most basic of human yearnings. That is why the "Republic" is departmentalized. That is why each department is organized and equipped to render a specialized service—a service that will help you accomplish some definite purpose.

¶ In adopting this type of advertising it is our idea to bring before you and the people of Chicago not only the countless services of this bank—services that extend throughout the world—but to show you how you can use them to your direct advantage. In this form of advertising we shall endeavor to present live, up-to-the-minute ideas that will show you how, when and where you can use these services to help you protect and further your financial interests. In this new style of advertising you will not find any sermons on thrift, but you will find specific and applied thoughts. Each advertisement will be easy to read and each thought will be easy to act on. We shall be glad to have you read them. We shall be pleased to have you drop in and discuss any particular items in person. The advertising itself will be written for your use and convenience just as much as the services advertised have been developed for your protection and comfort.

¶ May we not invite you to make use of both?

ITEMS OF A DAY IN CRIME.

Russell Scott has been found guilty by a jury of the murder of Joseph Maurer, a clerk in the City Hall pharmacy. Russell Scott and his brother, Robert, who escaped and has not been taken, killed Maurer, who was 19 years old, after they had held up the drug store and robbed the till.

Scott was brought to trial before Judge Lindsay, pleaded guilty, asked for mercy, and was sentenced to be hanged. At that unexpected turn he wanted to withdraw his plea, and when the Lord-Leopold verdict gave those players life instead of the gallows there was some sentiment in favor of allowing this other player to defend himself. That was done, and the jury in Judge Lynch's court voted him death. The man had his chance. The jury did its duty.

It is the first death verdict voted by a jury in this county since February, and the gun record this year shows at this writing 334 killings, of which this murder by Scott was one. An exceptional jury permitted the law to work as it is intended to work for the prevention of crime. If it always worked that way the hand of the death clock marked "guns" would not move so fast over the face of the clock in the course of the year. But it doesn't.

There is a notorious pickpocket known as Eddie Jackson the Immune. He has been arrested hundreds of times, escaping punishment. Most pickpockets, being members of a highly organized and protected criminal trade, escape punishment, but Jackson, even among them, was conspicuous for good fortune. He has been sentenced for one to ten years and will not wait to see how quickly he will win his freedom by parole or pardon or by walking off the honor farm.

Murderers, gunmen, and pickpockets enjoy about equal degrees of immunity. There is a notorious gunman by the name of Louis Alterie. He was a friend of Dion O'Banion, recently the victim of the private justice of criminals, a murderer himself and killed by others. Alterie at the time said he would kill the murderers of O'Banion. He may yet, or they may kill him.

After the O'Banion murder the police rounded up nearly a thousand men in a raid on gunmen, most of them totally unknown and all of them soon released. Alterie was not among them. He was one of the toughs in an assault on a woman at Northern Lights and which resulted in two policemen being slain. Another policeman stopped the affair by killing one of the gunmen.

Alterie has escaped thus far. Judge David issued a bench warrant for him on charges of robbery with a gun and attempted murder. Now the police learn that he was at the Friar's Inn when a man and woman, the latter heavily with jewelry, departed, to be held up and robbed later by gunmen who evidently tracked them from the place.

Another immune, evidently. There are many of them. That is one reason the gun hand on the clock moves rapidly and why such verdicts as that in the Scott case are regarded as exceptional performances of public duty in Cook county. When they are less exceptional the peaceful citizens will have greater immunity.

UNDERPAID FEDERAL JUDGES.

A bill to increase the pay of the federal judiciary is under consideration by congress. Without pretending to pass upon the adequacy of the salaries fixed in this measure, our opinion is that they are in some cases at least too low rather than too high, and in no case too high.

By this measure the chief justice is given $20,500 instead of $15,000, and associate justices $20,000 instead of $14,500. When any proper consideration is given to the tremendous responsibilities of this court of final review and guardian of our constitutional rights the sums named above are, we think, not merely modest but inadequate. It is true that a man does not aspire to the lofty judicial honor of the Supreme bench for mere money. But, on the other hand, unless he has a private fortune, he must consider provision for his family and a scale of living commensurate with the needs and proper wants, both material and social, of such a man as we would have in this court. The trouble must be expected to meet some competition with the great rewards of private practice, and it is penny wise pound foolish to trade on the prestige of the high place for the sake of saving a few thousands a year on the salary roll.

What the nation needs is the greatest ability it can get, and while this is not a matter of salary merely, salary should be fully adequate. This applies to all the federal judiciary which is underpaid, at any rate in the circuits which involve living in the large cities, where the cost of living is high. This bill provides for a sliding scale of compensation for both Circuit and District judges, the latter from $15,000 for New York, $14,000 for the Third, Seventh (Chicago), Eighth, and Ninth circuits, and $13,000 for the First, Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth. District judges are to be paid $10,000 except where the population of the district over 2,000,000 the salary shall be increased by $500 for every 100,000 in excess of 2,000,000 until it reaches a sum $1,000 less than the salary of the Circuit judge of the circuit in which the district is situated.

This measure seems well considered and ought to be enacted. The federal judiciary, especially of the Supreme court and the great centers of litigation, carry a very heavy burden of work, and the Supreme court has responsibilities which in the long run are greater than any other branch of government. We think more attention should be given to the personnel of the judiciary and to the need for getting the very best available men on the federal bench. We think there has been of late years a tendency to make judicial appointments as payment for political debts. More Circuit and District judges of proved ability should be promoted. Salary is, of course, not the sole factor, but the laborer is worthy of his hire, and an underpaid judiciary is neither necessary nor consistent with justice to the public service or with national dignity.

THE SINGAPORE BASE.

The decision to proceed with the Singapore base announced by the Baldwin government in the king's speech was not unexpected. We had hoped for it, for we are confident that it has a strong bearing upon the peace of the Pacific. In which this country is seriously concerned. The MacDonald government did not repudiate the Singapore project, conceding that it might be necessary some day to go on with it, but put it on the shelf, on the theory that it involved an unnecessary expenditure in view of the Pacific treaty of the four powers. The conservative attitude toward imperial responsibilities is different, and we trust the development of the Singapore base is assured, for, even though in the mutation of party fortune the present government should not live as long as it is expected, it can bring the Singapore project so far forward that even a ministry strongly pacifist or anti-imperialist would be constrained to complete it rather than accept the loss involved in throwing away the partly completed establishment.

We in the United States may frankly recognize a selfish interest in this base. It is a counterpoise to a bellicose Japanese policy. It strengthens the hands of our natural, if not inevitable, ally in any serious struggle in the Pacific and offsets in some measure the strategic disadvantages our sacrifice of the right to create bases in the east has imposed upon us. That disadvantage affected, of course, the British dominions, whose vital interest in the peace of the Pacific parallels ours.

We do not make these obvious observations in any sense unfriendly to an amicable Japanese policy or imply that American policy has any ulterior phase or any aggressive object. We repeat that Americans have no taste for adventurous war and no wish but to conserve friendly relations with Japan, provided they do not involve sacrifice of vital interests and sovereign rights, such as are involved in our exclusion policy. But the Japanese policy on immigration and the Japanese readiness to forget our substantial proofs of good will, expressed in the Washington treaties and elsewhere, and to ascribe intention of injury where there is none, have indicated that in spite of our willingness to keep the peace we may be confronted by an irrepressible conflict, or at any rate by a deep seated purpose to make war upon us in due time for ends approved in Japanese policy.

Envisaging that possibility, or that probability, or, as some pessimists think, that certainty, the Singapore base takes an important place in the strategy which Anglo-American cooperation must and will develop. Its development is compatible with a friendly policy toward Japan, and we think it will make for peace, since both the British and American intentions, which it will support, are peaceful.

OUR CHILDREN AND THEIRS.

The Rev. Dr. Speer, a ministerial orator at a convention in the south, inquired: "Why should 40,000 children in eastern Asia starve while 40,000 children in America squander their wealth?"

Well, if the revered gentleman will escape from his rhetoric, a number of practical reasons will occur to him: historical, ethnological, political, geographic, cultural, economic. Americans, who give more generously to the suffering than any other people, all deplore the fact that children are starving anywhere, but the implication that American children are somehow condemnable because they prosper while children in eastern Asia or central Africa or Armenia are suffering does not appeal to us as more than another example of that vicious altruism which is so familiar in our discussion of world affairs.

We doubt if the speaker quoted gives his best overcoat and all his winter underwear to the shivering tramps he knows of, nor does he require his family to live on the level of the most destitute in his community.

We can offer the simple way of securing our countrymen against the sin of being any better off than any other people in eastern Asia or elsewhere. We should demand that the tariff be abolished so that the impoverished workers of Europe might find employment in manufacturing commodities to be sold in triumphant competition with those made by our workers. And we should demand the repeal of all immigration restrictions so that the starving peoples of China, Russia, and wherever they are not up to the level of our squandering Americans might enter to enjoy American prosperity while it lasted. Then we should soon have no more reason to reproach ourselves for our un-Christian good fortune and our children could starve as conscientiously and thoroughly as any children east of Suez or west.

WE'RE IN BAD AGAIN.

According to a Tokyo dispatch Brazil has returned the Japanese foreign office that for the present no passports to Brazil will be issued. Japan has expressed interest and concern and has asked that a fuller statement of the intent of the government of Brazil be made.

Brazil, on the east coast of South America and without any possessions, 1,400 miles from Japan, should worry what its naval ratio is to the Japanese fleet. With America sitting on the lines of communication it is as safe, whatever its intent is, as if it were talking to Liberia.

What will happen, we suspect, unless a friendly explanation is made, will be the drawing of another black mark against the character and peaceful prospects of the United States. There is Guam within kicking distance and the Philippines not so much further away.

Editorial of the Day

AUTO MORE DEADLY THAN WAR.

Automobile accidents accounted for 16,432 deaths throughout the United States last year, federal commerce department figures show. According to the 1929 census, there is not a town in Idaho, Nevada, New Mexico or Wyoming with as many as 16,432 inhabitants. Leavenworth, Kas., with 15,312, and Muscatine, Ia., with 16,984, have populations about the size of America's last year's death toll. Laporte, Ind., has not quite so many, 15,153; Key West, Fla., has only a few more, 13,748. Automobiles killed last year in America only 3,997 short of half as many as the Americans killed in action in the world war.

WARM CLOTHING.

PROF. LEONARD HILL gives his method of keeping warm in winter. He says: "The writer finds a light cellular shirt and pants (underwear) and a woolen tweed suit ample for winter, and rarely wearing an overcoat, keeps himself warm and in good condition by walking on every possible occasion, covering to and from his place of work and in a walk before breakfast some five miles a day, and at week-ends having, whenever weather allows, a sun bath."

After giving the weight and weave of clothing suited to warm weather, he says of cold weather clothing: "To keep warm in very cold weather, ventilation must be cut down, opening garments being made to overlap as in Arctic travelers and air pilot trousers, the outer garments being of some light, windproof material, and the inner of soft, fleecy wool."

The nature of the fiber of which the clothes are made is of little importance, for it is not the fiber but the air entangled in the meshwork of the fiber which keeps us warm by acting as an insulator. Cotton, wool, linen, silk spun as cellular tissue—as may be all equally warm and if spun in the same way are equally cool. Cotton spun into a fluffy cloth, as is so-called cotton flannel, is just as warm as wool or even fur.

Some allowance must be made for prospective use. Few, for example, expect to work at a hard job and to get wet with sweat, he will find woolen garments warmer after he cools down and remains in cold air. A wet, woolen garment does not stick to the skin. It is, therefore, warmer than a wet cotton one which does stick.

Persons dressing for sea fishing or traveling in open boats, or who have been shipwrecked, or who must go into a rain, should wear woolen garments even though they expect to have the added protection against the wet given by a waterproof.

If a person expects to be out in a high wind, a waterproof or any other close woven garment is warm because it will not let the wind through. The color of the garment has considerable to do with heat the body gets. Benjamin Franklin put pieces of cloth on the snow in the sunshine and noticed the effects of color on the snow below. A white cloth protected the snow against sunlight. It stayed on top of the snow.

DORMANT ESTATE.

Chicago, Dec. 9.—(To the Legal Friend of the People.)—My father died in 1913 leaving my mother and six children. There was an estate, but it was never looked into. Each child received about $50 and my mother $200 at this time, but the estate was valued at $10,000. There were no debts or mortgages against the estate. An administrator was supposed to have been appointed, but he never took into this without employing an attorney.

See the records in the office of the clerk of the Probate court in which the estate is being probated. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

NO MONEY AND NO PAY.

Chicago, Dec. 9.—(To the Legal Friend of the People.)—We sold a building on which there was a first mortgage, making it necessary for us to take back a second mortgage, payable $500 every six months, including interest at 6 per cent. When money was lacking the party informed us they could not pay the interest or the $500 because they had large doctor bills due to automobile accident. The note reads 7 per cent after maturity.

The party in question is an illiterate man and does not seem to realize the importance of his signature on the note. He simply says he hasn't the money.

What would you advise us to do? E. D. D. H.

We advise you to place the matter in the hands of an attorney, who will do the best settlement possible. His course should depend in part upon the amount that the bureau business man, the Philanthropist and the American scene. His championing of Dreiser and his defense of the right of free press against the onslaughts of the Sumners and Clean Bookers earn him considerable respect as a serious literary force and not as a sassy and a clown. Let Henry Heine point to one purpose of Hubbard other than to extol the great (i. e., the rich, whom he worshipped) or forever hold his peace.

SEE LINES THE U. S.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—(To the Legal Friend of the People.)—My niece came from Canada to visit me. She has been visiting only a few weeks. She likes it so well here that she would like to stay longer, perhaps until summer time. She has taken a job and she would like to go back to Canada and come in as an immigrant or can she pay tax here and remain until spring?

A. G. An alien entering the United States for a visit cannot leave the United States and secure an immigration visa from the American consul abroad.

If you desire an extension of temporary admission it is suggested that she call at the office and give the reasons for the requested extension so that the matter may be laid before the department at Washington.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

60 YEARS AGO TODAY

WASHINGTON—Maj. Gen. Halleck received a dispatch from Maj. Gen. Porter at Hilton Head stating that Capt. Duncan of Howard's scouts had come through from Gen. Sherman's army. When he left, Sherman was within ten miles of Savannah and advancing to attack the rebel fortifications five miles from the city.

NEW YORK—A Washington special gives an account of a battle between Gen. Sherman and the rebels, that is said to come direct from a loyal resident of Richmond. He says the battle lasted all day, the rebel garrison of 17,000 in Savannah participating. On grand charge by Sherman some of the works on the enemy's center and left were carried. The whole Union army then moved up and the rebels fell back to works in the rear of Savannah. The loss was severe on both sides—3,500 to the Union forces and between 4,000 and 4,500 to the rebels.

NEW YORK—The Charleston Mercury says: "Sherman's army is proving a scourge wherever it goes. Throughout the whole line of march the country has been made desolate by pillage and fire. We trust that a righteous retribution awaits the vandals."

CHICAGO—Peter Monahan was before Justice Miller charged with stealing two hogs from his neighbor's sty.

CHICAGO—Charles H. Foster and Miss Carrie Van Inwagen were married by the Rev. Robert Collier.

LONDON—Whiston Churchhill, who was captured by the Boers at Cherey and taken to Pretoria, where he was held as a combatant officer, has escaped. Lady Randolph Churchill, while gratified over his escape, is worried because he has a long and perilous road to travel before he can reach the British lines.

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 15.—W. R. ## IN A DARK WOOD.

Night creeps close. In the wood, where the trees are boarded,
Shadows scatter and mingle, and dim lights die.
Steadily, stealthily, black falls lower, to cover.
The leaves on the trees, and the pools where the dead leaves lie.

Softly there enters a sound like a small heart's beating . . .
Out of the nest of the silence, the branches stir,
And Beauty goes, like a Flitting Mouse, through the darkness . . .
Seen for a moment only . . . and lost forever!

Dorothy Dow.

SECRETARY WILBUR denies that our Navy is a Do-Do. We understand his action was forced by the Do-Do in the Smithsonian Institution, who got awfully mad when our Navy was compared with them.

Not Our Name, but Your Name, Dearie, or That of the One You Give It To.
RHL: You've come 'way down below par. "Name on front cover, two bits." I've always rated you high—along with Steamer, the King, Colorado, Pete, and Melodious—but now! On fourth of a skin. Your slouchette on the cover was bad enough, but now you're just plain mercenary. It's a shame you've gone and spoiled it.

P. V. OF THE IRON BATTERY.

How Much Was It?

Reminds me of my Minneapolis guy that accidentally saw a acquaintance from St. Paul. He run to the police station right away and told his story. Well, the chief you'll have to go over to the courthouse. We don't pay no bounties here.

MERRYGOS.

REV. HIGHT has set up as his defense for killing his wife that he was suffering from Alabieger's disease, or shrinking of the brain. He may be right, at that. We would say roughly that we think the brain of any man who killed his wife had shrunk to the size of a peanut.

That's Your Own Fault, Phyllis

R. H. L.: Will you please tell Tamara that he may have my first edition Line Book free-of-charge if he'll replace it with a second, third, or nineteenth edition Line Book autographed. In other words, I must have a Line Book to keep, but I don't give a hoot what edition it is. But it must be autographed.

P. M. K.

P. S.: My first edition isn't autographed.
"GRIDIRON Jokes Bring a Laugh from Coolidge."—W. G. N. Wonder which it was? We read 'em all through yesterday. Maybe it was this one: "The next Democratic Convention won't go to New York," faunted a Gridiron member disguised as McGuffin.

"No," retorted an imitation Al Smith; "but the nomination will."

Well, if Cal laughed at that one, he laughs easier than he talks.

O Mister Mencken! O Mister Mencken!

R. H. L.: I would ask that Henry Heine forget all these superficial resemblances of vocabulary of Mencken and Hubbard, and which I will grant to exist, and devote his time to the content of the work. Let him regard those considerable and thoroughly sound appraisals of Conrad, Dreiser, and Huxner to be found in "The Book of Prefaces" and match them if he can in Hubbard. Likewise let him produce from Hubbard's long forgotten scribbles a work of scholarship and skillful presentation equal to "The American Language." Mencken beneath all his "smart aleck" exterior preserves a serious purpose. He attacks shoddy workmanship in letters, the wordy idealism of the business man, the Philanthropist and Puritanism of the American scene. His championing of Dreiser and his defense of the right of free press against the onslaughts of the Sumners and Clean Bookers earn him considerable respect as a serious literary force and not as a sassy and a clown. Let Henry Heine point to one purpose of Hubbard other than to extol the great (i. e., the rich, whom he worshipped) or forever hold his peace.

CHARLEY PFELL has been reflected head of the Western Golf association. Oh, why can't we spell a certain awful word that way? It would be so much nicer if we could say "O Phehl!"

THE SUPERIOR NORDIC.

What a queer static reaction.
How my nerve centers tingle and thrill
To that urgent primordial attraction,
I can't keep my right foot still.

For jangle brute calls to jungle mate,
While carnivora howl and scream,
And my veins and my muscles syncope,
Like a hasheesh eater's dream.

Come on, let's dance. 'Twill do you good,
My dear, we are young once more,
I could romp like a satyr of the wood,
Or the nymphs that throng the shores.

Don't be so stiff, my dear, unbend,
That's right—let your shoulders sway,
We'll rag it through to the very end,
There's a kick when you dance this way.

Oh Sweetie! Hear those saxes moan,
Get the jangle and blare of that brass,
Fly at it, Queen—let's strut, my own,
Hot diggity, kid—let's jazz.

O'KANOGAN.

OUR tears fall thick and fast. Our grief is pitiful. We have just read that the people who backed a ticket-scalping firm have discovered that the firm has disappeared without cutting up the money that had been scalped from its theater-goers. Oh, it is terrible, terrible! Again we weep.

GET A SECTIONAL BOOKCASE.
Rhl: I just don't know what to do. I've got many books and so few bookcases. My shelves are simply overflowing, and I don't know what to do with The Telford Question and The Green Hat and other sex stuff like that. What?

MARGUERITE OF ROCKERS PARK.

"PACIFICISM," said Rear Admiral Bradley Fisk, retired, "is the fault of the women; they meddle in things they don't understand." Back, girls! Read that name again: "Rear Admiral Bradley Fisk, retired." Well, after that, if he want, he would be.

Never Heard of Him!
R. H. L.: You said Jefferson rode horseback to his insurance and tied his horse to a fence. You are wrong. He went on foot to the capitol in ordinary dress.

And another contrib tells us King Richard said, "A mon's a mon for a 'that.' Really, Mr. Little, it was Robert Burns who penned those lines."

DAURA.

Just Like Our Ben of Great Lakes.
R. H. L.: I, too, know one who sits in a wheel-chair and can't walk, but he found the path leading to it. When one has felt the sunbeams radiating from this mind he goes away convinced there is much good in life. Read The Magic Midland, Dick, if you'd get nearer.

WILWOOD SUB.

O Margie—Willst?
R. H. L.: I hereby request, beg, plead, and everything for Margie F. W. to read A Flower for Bill when she broadcasts on Line night next Thursday.

IRONDALE.

THE INTERIOR Department has selected the Blue Ridge of Virginia for the first great National Park of the East. Oh, Interior Department! do you know what we want for Christmas? The Indiana Dunes for the first great National Park of the Middle West.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

FROM WILLIAM B. DAVES.
Chicago, Dec. 10.—Your recent editorial, "Make Chicago the First City in the World," makes instant appeal to everybody who lives in Chicago, believes in, and can visualize the picture you have drawn. It is a most constructive statement and the Chicago Association of Commerce not only appreciates it but is deeply interested in making the suggestion a reality.

WILLIAM B. DAVES,
President Chicago Association of Commerce.

FOR THE EXISTENCE OF THE TRIBUNE, I look forward to the day when the non-proletarian worker of THE TRIBUNE snaps out of it—and thinks.

C. TAUBENHEIM.

THE FIFTY-SECOND LETTER ON G. P. S.
Chicago, Dec. 10.—The most despicable creature is the insect in human form—who would seek to belittle and ridicule the countless protests sent in against the needless roasting alive of the little guinea pigs—or any other defenseless animal who is powerless to protect itself—in the interest of so-called science.

His proposed "government quarters" for the protection of fleas, flies, beetles and cockroaches should be shared by this cowardly vermin monstrosity—along with his own species—where it would be impossible for him to spread this barbaric propaganda of fendish cruelty. A decent, many dog would refuse such company. He was born about 10,000 years too late—to mingle with the present race—and belongs to another age, which we hope to forget—ever existed. He should be classified as a moron, who would countenance cruelty in any form. (Now—Print that if you dare.)

NORMAN HENNINGSEN.

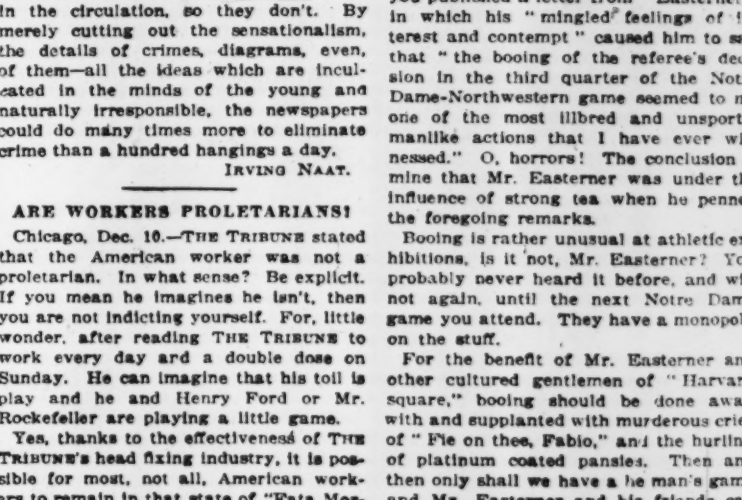

MURDEROUS CRIES OF "FIE ON THEE, FABIO."
Chicago, Dec. 8.—In your column today you published a letter from "Easterner" in which his "mingled feelings of interest and contempt" caused him to say that "the boing of the referee's decision in the third quarter of the Notre Dame-Northwestern game seemed to me one of the most libred and unportant manlike actions that I have ever witnessed." O, horrors! The conclusion is mine that Mr. Easterner was under the influence of strong tea when he penned the foregoing remarks.

Boeing is rather unusual at athletic exhibitions, is it not, Mr. Easterner? You probably never heard it before, and will not again, until the next Notre Dame game you attend. They have a monopoly on the stuff.

For the benefit of Mr. Easterner and other cultured gentlemen of "Harvard square," boing should be done away with and supplanted with murderous cries of "Fie on thee, Fabio," and the burling of platinum coated pants. Then and then only shall we have a man's game and Mr. Easterner and his friends can attend in peace.

The Store of the Christmas Spirit

OUT of the past have come many cherished Christmas traditions. The Christmas Spirit of today, as felt by men and women, includes many sentiments associated with their best memories of childhood. Conditions of life change with each generation, but the Christmas Spirit of cordiality and good will—like fundamental principles upon which this business rests—remains unchanged with the passing of time.

Through fifty-nine Christmas seasons this Store has been a superlative Christmas Store for the people of Chicago—in very truth, "The Store of the Christmas Spirit." Many persons who visit the Store today have been here every Christmas time since their early childhood. The impressions gained by those children who visit here this season will doubtless linger through many years.

Here, indeed, the best traditions of Christmas, thoroughly modernized, find noteworthy expression. And here, perhaps, are now being established newer traditions which are destined to carry the spirit of our times into future generations.

FRANCE FEARS MOOR REPUBLIC; QUIZZES SPAIN

Sends Note on Retreat in Morocco.

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.)
PARIS, Dec. 14. — It is authoritatively reported in political circles that France has dispatched a note to Spain dealing with the situation created by the Spanish evacuation of a large part of Morocco and requesting information on Spain's attitude towards the territory it has evacuated.

The general terms of the note were dictated by Premier Herriot when he received his ministers on Thursday morning, although at the time he had a high fever. Actual confirmation of the sending of the note is impossible to obtain. Quai d'Orsay declaring it can say nothing on the matter until the premier is able to give out information himself.

Fear Moor Republic.

The proposition France put up to Spain is what is to become of the mountainous territory between the rim on the coast which Spain will keep and the rest of Morocco belonging to France? France cannot for strategic reasons permit the hostile tribes of Abdel Krim to grow into a strong Moorish republic, constantly threatening the French dominion.

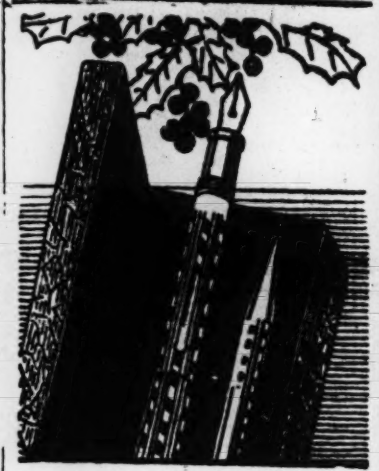

This view was put forth in the note and an explanation of Spain's views was requested. It indicates that if Spain definitely surrenders the protectorate of Rif, except for a narrow rim of the coast, France will find itself obliged to take some measures for protection, preferring to do this in agreement with the other powers.

Explains Italian Pact.

Premier Ninetti of Jugo-Slavia arrived here this afternoon for a conference with M. Herriot on an adjustment of the little entente's status with regard to Jugo-Slavia's treaty with Italy.

Thebes the Original Reno, Egyptian Document Shows

This document is in the demotic dialect, bearing the signature of a notary named Thut. It does not indicate the ground upon which the divorce was granted. Four witnesses attached their signatures to the reverse side of the papyrus.

Five members of the police department today will celebrate their fortieth anniversary in the service. They went on the force with the "famous 300," the date of their appointment being Dec. 15, 1884. It was the largest number of men up to that time that ever joined the police department in a body.

The quintet who have seen chiefs come and go for the last four decades are Capt. James Gleason, Deputy Superintendent John E. Pearson, Detective Daniel Kinnane, Identification bureau, and Patrolman Henry Pendergast, Summerdale.

FISHING CREW IS ADRIFT 3 DAYS
IN ERIE STORM

Dunkirk, N. Y., Dec. 14.—Capt. H. W. Hornke of Cleveland and his crew of six Dunkirk fishermen were safe here today after having been lost aboard the fish tug Helene, with no fuel and few provisions, for nearly three days in a Lake Erie storm.

The Helene was beached at Angola, between here and Buffalo, early to day, after William Urban, a member of the crew, had leaped overboard to carry a line through the rough shoal water. When Capt. Hornke and his men reached shore their clothes were stiff with ice.

DUNNING INMATE
KILLS MAN WITH
BLOW OF SHOVEL

Petokey, Mich., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—The lighthouse on the Petokey breakwater was robbed of $115 and a fierce nor'wester and snowstorm this morning. It was the worst storm in a decade.

Godfried Pearson, 55 years old, who recently was committed to the Dunning State hospital as a victim of dementia praecox, was killed yesterday by a fellow patient, Sam Greco. Greco is suffering from the same disorder.

The men were in a squad of thirty unloading a car of coal. Each man had a heavy shovel. Pearson complained that Greco was throwing coal dust in his direction, and warned him to work somewhere else.

A moment later Greco sprang at Pearson and struck him over the head. Pearson died within an hour. The cries of the other patients brought guards on the run and the entire crew was marched back to the hospital. It was feared that the excitement might lead to further violence.

ARMENIAN RELIEF IS THREATENED BY SOVIET CHEKA

May Cause Yanks to Quit
17,000 Orphans.

BY RAYMOND FENDRICK.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright, 1936: By The Chicago Tribune.)
CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 14.—The position of the near east relief in the soviet republic of Armenia has become critical.

The cheka has just arrested three principal Armenian teachers in an orphanage in Alexandropol on a charge of counter-revolution and the whole Armenian staff has fallen under suspicion. The fate of the three teachers is unknown. It is the first time the cheka has attacked this American organization, which is caring for 17,000 Armenian orphans in the Caucasus.

Use Communist Lecturers.
The organization has always employed one or two leading Armenian communists to lecture daily to the children on communist doctrines and uses official soviet government school books, which treat everything from a communist and atheist viewpoint. The teachers have torn out some of the worst pages of the school books, however. Bible teaching is forbidden.

The teaching of communist doctrines to the orphans was one of the essential conditions in the agreement with the soviet. The officials justify this on the ground that as the orphans are going to live in Russia, they should clearly understand the theories and doctrines of the present Russian government.

The near east relief spends more than $1,000,000 annually for the support of these 17,000 orphans and maintains a permanent staff of almost 100 Americans in Armenia to supervise their care.

May Abandon Work.

In the last few days the cheka organization through all the Caucasus has been extremely nervous over the Georgian revolution, which was a close shave for the soviet, and has arrested the few remaining members of the educated classes, all being considered inherent enemies of the communist system. The near east teachers must have been included in these arrests. The arrest of the teachers has thrown the near east work under grave suspicion, and if the cheka interferes further the Americans will practically be forced to get out of Russia.

NEW TRIBUNE TOWER PRAISED BY AUSTRALIAN

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 14.—"The new Tribune Tower in Chicago is an inspiration for all newspaper men, architects, builders, and lovers of things beautiful and useful throughout the world," Col. Alfred Spain, leading Australian architect, thus praised the Tribune's new home after returning to Australia from a tour of the world, which included a visit to Chicago. Col. Spain described the general layout of the building as magnificent. He was impressed by the numerous utilitarian features, especially the facilities for handling the issue of the paper with the utmost speed.

Several new newspaper buildings are being erected in Australia. Although conditions do not warrant such a palatial structure, yet many features of the new Tribune building will be adapted to the Australian requirements. Col. Spain expressed his gratitude and pleasure with the day spent at the Tribune plant.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
DUBLIN, Dec. 14.—Freeman's Journal, which has been a notable organ in Irish national politics for 100 years, has been placed in the hands of a receiver, acting for debenture holders. For some time the Republicans have been trying to purchase Freeman's Journal, but the negotiations apparently failed. The staff is working on a week to week engagement.

When a painting or a piece of statuary is to be chosen for the home, an art connoisseur is usually called in to help judge the artistic qualities of the work and its appropriateness for the surroundings intended.

In the even more intimate and personal relation of jewelry to the possessor's enjoyment and use, the advice and suggestion of an expert in jewelry values are just as essential and desirable.

We shall be glad to serve you in this confidential relation of expert advisors in your selection of jewelry for the holiday season. Purchases made now may be left with instructions for delivery later.

TURKS REVEAL ALLIED CHARGE AGAINST GREECE

Claim Report Pointed to Atrocities.

BY RAYMOND FENDRICK.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

(Copyright, 1924, By The Chicago Tribune.)

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 14.—The Turkish government today announced that the report of the commission of high allled and American officers which was sent to Smyrna in August, 1919, to investigate the atrocities committed by the Greek army upon the occupation of Smyrna, unanimously recommended that the Greek army immediately evacuate all of Asia Minor.

The American member, Admiral Mark Bristol, and even the British member unanimously agreed with the French and Italian members in recommending the immediate evacuation, although David Lloyd George himself had inspired the Greek occupation a few days previously.

At the demand of Mr. Lloyd George, the American state department and the French and Italian foreign ministries completely suppressed the report, which is a scathing indictment of the Greek actions, although the French later published a few extracts.

The suppression of this report, publication of which might have forced the Greeks to evacuate Asia Minor, was, therefore, partly responsible for the tragedy which followed three years later.

A copy of this report, which has been carefully suppressed in Washington, London, Paris, and Rome, only recently has come to the Turkish government's hands.

Expert Says Australia Has Oil for 2,000 Years

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

SYDNEY, Dec. 14.—Prof. David, famous geologist and explorer, today told a federal committee inquiring into Australian oil supplies that enough oil existed in coal resources in the commonwealth to last 2,000 years. Australia's known coal reserves amount to 25,000,000 tons, which, if properly treated, will yield two gallons of light oil per ton. Prof. David expressed confidence that oil would be found in Papua, New Guinea.

POPE OPENS DOOR FOR 'HOLY YEAR' CHRISTMAS EVE

Elaborate Ceremonies
Mark Preparations.

ROME, Dec. 14.—[By the Associated Press.]—The ceremony of opening the "masonry" which walls up the "holy door" which Pope Pius will open Christmas eve, in the basilica of St. Peter's, formally announcing the Holy Year of Jubilee, was performed tonight. It was an impressive one.

Mgr. Samperi, the papal master of ceremonies, accompanied by Mgr. Gioia, master of the papal household, and escorted by Swiss guards and four sedari, or carriers of the papal chair, bearing lighted torches and the Holy sacrament, approached the holy door.

POPE PIUS XI

Medals and Coins.

After a half hour's work masons removed the marble tablet having on it a cross. Then they removed the bronze urn, which contained documents written by Dr. Lapponi, Pope Leo's personal physician; by Pio Centra, Pope Leo's valet, and by Cavalier De Angelis, night of the cope and sword, who organized the pilgrimage to the holy door during the last holy year.

They also removed a glass tube containing twelve gold, thirty silver and sixty bronze medals, half of which commemorated the opening and half the closing of the holy door in 1900.

Earlier in the day the papal bull announcing the approach of "holy year" was read for the second time.

Mgr. Mannucci, auditor of the Holy See, admitted into the presence of the pope. Mgr. Mannucci knelt before the pontiff and asked his authorization to read again in Italian and Latin the bull proclaiming holy year.

Pope Pius spoke.

Pope Pius replied in a short address in which he said he gave the authorization. This he did all the more willingly as today was the Sunday known as "Gaudete" (the third Sunday in Advent) when the church invited the faithful to rejoice because they were near their Lord.

This year, Pope Pius said, the faithful were doubly near because the Christmas festival would coincide with the announcement of a year of redemption and forgiveness, which might be gained entirely if accompanied by penitence and the expiation of sin.

Calles Begins Reform on Mexican Agrarian Board

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

Mexico City, Dec. 14.—President Calles began last night his promised reform of the national agrarian commission, which automatically throws out of office all radicals who supported Señor De Negri's fatal agrarian policy. The cumbersome agrarian machinery of the days of Carranza and Obregon will be done away with. The commission will consist of only nine members, under the direction of the department of agriculture, with an expert engineer for each of the twenty-eight states. It is stated semi-officially that the minister of agriculture is studying a plan for payment for all lands taken for agrarian uses.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 14.—Wage increases totaling £100,000,000 ($470,000,000) will be demanded by British mining, engineering, and ship building workers immediately after New Year. More than 1,000,000 men engaged in the metal trade are organizing a drive for a raise of £1 ($4.70) a week. About 500,000 ship building workers are drawing up plans for a campaign to enforce a program of higher wages. The miners, with another 1,000,000 pledged to the movement, will demand a uniform minimum rate of 12s per day, effective in April.

London Hears Reports of Trouble in N. Albania

LONDON, Dec. 14.—[By Associated Press.]—The Albanian legation has received advice that bands organized on Jugo-Slav territory yesterday made attacks at several points in northern Albania.

French Premier Admits He May Quit Office This Week

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 14.—After Premier Herriot had received certain members of his government this evening, it was learned from two of them that M. Herriot had said he would resign if his condition was not improved within three or four days. The premier is nervous and sensitive and reads all the newspapers, and he has been deeply affected by the declarations of many journals that he should resign. He told his collaborators he would ask President Doumergue to summon former Premier Painlevé to form a cabinet if he decided to quit.

POLICE BALKED IN POISONING OF MYSTERY GIRL

While Miss Florence Reese, who, suffering from poisoning, was mysteriously rushed to the Michael Reese hospital Saturday night, upon the order of a Cyrus Adler, was pronounced recovering last night, police were unable to locate Cyrus M. Adler, son of Max Adler and a nephew of Julius Rosenberg, who is thought to be a friend of the young woman.

Miss Reese will live, it was said at the hospital. Her physician, Dr. Ralph Bettman, who went to the Shirley apartments, 4164 Drexel boulevard at the order of Cyrus Adler, and took the girl to the hospital, went skating yesterday afternoon, leaving word behind that he did not intend to answer questions about his patient.

In the meantime servants at the Adler home said Mr. Adler was not in, had not been at home since Saturday morning, and that the members of his family did not know where he was or when he would return.

Adler is 26 years old, is unmarried, and lives at the home of his father, Max Adler, at 4939 Greenwood avenue.

PRESIDENT OF TREE ASSOCIATION HOLDS CHRISTMAS TREE O. K.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—To cut or not to cut the Christmas trees may become another famous question.

Ever since a bill was introduced in congress proposing to prohibit cutting Christmas trees and the American Tree association declared in favor of cutting them in a proper manner, calculated to aid reforestation, the question has grown toward a controversy.

Women's clubs and others have appealed to Charles Lathrop Pack of the American Tree association to repudiate the recent expressions in favor of the tree cutting by Prof. Ralph S. Hosmer of the Cornell Forestry school.

"Conservation means proper use," Mr. Pack has told the objectors. "What better use of a small tree than to give joy to children? Most Christmas trees are cut from waste and non-agricultural land and are but an infinitesimal part of the annual cut from our forests."

The men leaped to safety from a second floor window, while two escaped through a rear entrance.

BANCROFT TALKS DRAW COMMENT FROM JAP PRESS

TOKIO, Japan, Dec. 14.—[By the Associated Press.]—The two public speeches of Edgar A. Bancroft, new United States ambassador to Japan, one before the pan-Pacific club on Saturday, and the other before the Japan-American association on Friday, have drawn sharp comment from a section of the Tokyo press.

The English edition of Nichi Nichi, quoting the ambassador's plea that "Japan have faith in America and President Coolidge, asks:

"What does he mean asking of us an obvious impossibility? Has President Coolidge or the United States given Japan anything concrete to go on? None of them has given us encouragement to hope for return to the traditional friendship between the two nations. Can we under the circumstances comply with Ambassador Bancroft's request with pride or self-respect?"

Khugai Shogyo Shimpu in the same vein says, "If the future can be judged by the past, Japan will have to hesitate in taking the ambassador at his words."

"ENFORCE LAWS EVERY WEEK," DEVER'S STAND

Mayor Dever has declined officially to name this or any other week as specifically law enforcement week. It was announced yesterday. He was appealed to by a committee from the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs to issue a proclamation giving the name of law enforcement to the week.

"My reason for declining," said Mayor Dever, "was not because I regard the matter of law enforcement as unimportant, nor as unworthy of public emphasis, but because I feel that every day and every week is law enforcement day and week."

EMPLOYMENT IN MIDWEST SHOWS GOOD CONDITION

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Employment is approaching the winter doldrums period this year in better shape than at any time since the slump of 1920, so the various monthly surveys indicate.

Factories, in general, are slowly increasing their forces, and skilled workers are in demand.

Transient labor is floating into the big cities, as it always does at the approach of cold weather, and there is a surplus of common labor. Jobs are getting scarcer for unskilled floaters, but at that fewer are carrying the banner than a year ago. In the manufacturing industries as a whole activity in December have increased over November.

Building Shows Increase.

One index of the continuous improvement in the building permits. In Chicago and suburbs last month $29,260,000 worth of new work was authorized. This was an increase of $5,500,000 over October and of $2,000,000 over November of last year. Coal mining is picking up, taking up much slack in the mining regions of central and southern Illinois.

Among the surveys is one of Illinois. Indiana, Michigan, and Wisconsin by Barney Cohen, district director of the United States employment service, issued last night. It shows that during the first week of December industrial activities increased in Illinois, Wisconsin and Indiana and slackened somewhat in Michigan, owing to the usual seasonal slowdown in the automotive centers.

Conditions in Illinois. The report sets forth conditions in Illinois as follows: General.—Many factories are increasing forces, but a surplus of common labor is apparent. Coal mining is on the increase.

Rock Island-Moline district.—Many factories are adding to their forces.

more mines are opening and the surplus of labor is not as large as it has been the last few months. The meat packing industry reports satisfactory operations. The demand for farm help is practically over. Farmers now calling only for odd jobs and chore men. No abatement as yet has been noticed in road construction. Building programs are building up well and at some points a shortage of bricklayers is reported. The steel industry showed improvement over last month, plants now operating at about 70 per cent of capacity.

Chicago district.—Meat packing houses report increase in employment. Most industrial plants are operating and report bright prospects. Men's clothing manufacturers have increased operations and are gradually re-employing those laid off in recent slump.

Rockford.—The employment trend is upward in most lines; this applies to plants, factories, stores, and retail business. Furniture plants and knitting mills operating overtime.

Quincy.—A slow and steady improvement is apparent. Most industrial plants are operating satisfactorily, and a large elevator company is running three shifts. Common labor is plentiful.

Aurora.—There is a surplus of shop and factory workers and of common labor. About one-fourth of the larger plants are working from three to five days a week, a slight improvement over last month.

Rock Island-Moline district.—Many factories are adding to their forces.

TO URGE BETTER USE BY FARMER OF PRESENT LAWS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—(Special.)—Better and more extensive utilization of the government's present facilities for the sound promotion of agriculture will be one of the chief recommendations of the President's commission on agriculture when it submits its preliminary report soon after the new year.

The view has been expressed that short of guaranteeing minimum prices the government can go only a certain distance in meeting the farmers' problems and beyond that the farmer must look out for himself.

What the committee has in mind is that the farmer shall be intelligently informed of what mediums of financial assistance and otherwise have been created by the government for their benefit. The committee has found unmistakable evidence that many farmers do not know what assistance the government is ready to extend.

The present state of mind of the President's commission, of which former Gov. Joseph M. Carey of Wyoming is chairman, proffers the possibility that it will not recommend the enactment of any major farm legislation and that the house, which has deferred consideration of several elaborate farm bills awaiting the report of the commission will not be obliged to give any consideration to them whatever at this session.

Blizzard Hits Central and Northern New York

Syracuse, N. Y., Dec. 14.—Central and northern New York today fought its first real storm of the winter, high winds bringing a snow fall of blizzard proportions which made railroad and highway traffic difficult. The snowfall, which in some districts early tonight was sixteen inches deep, was accompanied by a sharp drop in temperature.

What He Thinks of Girl Who Listens to Risque Stories

BY DORIS BLAKE.

On a crowded train recently, I was sitting in a double seat with a girl and two men. To my surprise the girl, whom I knew by sight, a pretty, flower-like creature of the ingenue type, was letting the older of the two men indulge in an orgy of risque stories. The younger man, in whom I had heard the girl was decidedly interested, contributed nothing to the conversation. The girl laughed and flushed and appeared alternately amused or vastly protesting. When we came to get off the younger man tipped his hat and left abruptly, leaving the girl and the older man.

Later the girl sought me out. "I guess I shouldn't have let him tell those stories," she said. "I didn't think Alec would be shocked. I didn't think you could shock a man these days." There was a hard little glitter in her eyes, which showed she knew she had acted unwisely, and was disappointed at the outcome.

The young man may not have been shocked. That hardly would be the word. A stronger word would describe his emotions more accurately. He was disgusted. Men, on the whole, are rather easily disgusted when the girl they are partly or wholly interested in is concerned.

His disgust at seeing the pretty girl listen to the older man's risque stories is quite understandable. Her slight, "I wasn't telling them myself," didn't help much. She was listening to them. It is entirely up to a girl what a man will or will not say. There are plenty of decent minded men who will not consider telling a risqué story before a girl or woman. With these men a girl does not have to be on her guard for their own attitudes and standards are unalterable.

But there are other men, who seem to derive a certain satisfaction from regaling stories of the risqué sort. They will attempt at every opportunity to put in their "oar," or will make an opportunity if necessary. It is true, also, that these men are usually fairly shrewd, worldly types, and they can be checked easily enough if the girl desires.

The girl of the train episode is sad and wiser right now. She has found out that the kind of man she wished to attract can be disgusted quickly enough by a girl's letting down the barriers, conversationally or any other way, too far. He probably would not have reacted any more strongly if he had seen her kiss the man than he did to the fact that she allowed the conversation to run where it did. Risqué stories are disgusting enough when men tell them; worse when women do. But when a young girl with fresh skin and straight eyes tells or lets be told stories with a dirty little sex twist, she feels hopeless. One wonders what the home environment is for girls who have had the right rearing, are fastidious, and turn naturally from vulgar things.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Wasting Your Time.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 18 and much interested in a fellow three years my senior. He is good to me in every way, but he is domineering and often embarrasses me with "smutty" remarks. He is jealous of me, especially when I talk or dance with another fellow. Do you think I should give him up or should I give him another chance, as I am really interested in him?"

DOWNHEARTED.

The boy lacks the refinement which is so pleasing to every girl, and I am afraid, even though he is good to you, as you say, it would not make up for the humiliation you would have to suffer at his hands through his domineering manner and his indecent conversations. There are so many good, clean minded chaps that it seems a waste of time to spend it with one who does not possess the finer feelings and cannot absorb them from other with those who do.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Six Months Old.

While on a farm teaching school, my brother sent me for Christmas a few yards of satin, enough for a waist. As I had no use for it there, I put it away.

Six months later, during my vacation, I had it made and wore it at an evening's entertainment while in the city visiting wealthy relatives.

After the entertainment I proceeded to get up when a neighbor sitting close to me whispered, "Your waist has come down the middle of the back."

It being summer and in the south, no one had any wrap to shield me, so there I sat afraid to move, everybody wondering what was the matter.

A FRIEND IN NEED

Asks Aid for Baby.

"Do you suppose you could find some one who no longer needs a baby's crib? My 2 year old baby is in a basket which is not nearly large enough for him. My husband has been out of work for three months, and although he has just found another job, we are expecting another baby soon, and have bills piled up to pay."

"Mrs. J. B. Mc."

Involunt Clothing.

"I am much in need of an overcoat and a suit of clothes, size 36. I have been out of employment for some time and in the hospital where I lost the sight of my right eye. I will gladly call for anything offered."

It is hard to walk out of the invalid ranks to hunt for work, and doubly hard on cold December days—without warm winter clothing. Can you help this man?

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY

Some of Antoinette Donnelly's recipes for youth and beauty, together with suggestions for personal hygiene, have been assembled in a 44 page booklet, "Advice to Women." It will be mailed upon receipt of 10 cents. Address The Tribune Public Service Bureau, 11 South Dearborn street, Chicago.

SADIE: I WOULD NOT ATTEMPT to eliminate one meal a day, Sadie. It is much better for you to eat your three meals, and eat lightly at all of them. If you do without lunch, when dinner time comes you are overly hungry and eat more than you should. For luncheon you might confine yourself to a vegetable soup, with two or three crackers, or bouillon with crackers, or perhaps a salad—either fruit or vegetable—without mayonnaise dressing, and a cup of tea without cream or sugar.

TESS: YES, FRUITS ARE LAXATIVE, that is, many of them are. If you think eating fruit with your meals is responsible for your indigestion, the thing to do is to eat the fruit between meals. Cooked fruits are more easily digested than raw, and the cooking does not interfere with the laxative action.

Thief Gives Added Thrill to Leaguers in Children's Play

BY PANDORA.

We've chatted of ransom and robbery; to keep up with the spirit of the hour, here's a bit concerning a thief.

We hurried to the Playhouse Saturday morning to view the opening of the Junior League's second children's play of the season, "The Golden Goose." We really did hurry, for it's almost as much fun to watch the kiddies as the play, and that is saying something. They rush to the theater and take their seats. Then they sit and clap and whistle until the curtain rises. There's real enthusiasm!

By the way, I know a new entertainment. It's comparing the height of heels one's allowed to wear, and it's accomplished either by raising one's feet to the back of the seat in front, or by removing one's shoe entirely, and measuring. It looks most entertaining.

But to return to the thief—In the lobby we met Harriet McLaughlin, looking distracted. She said robbers had broken into the dressing room the preceding night, and that the already overworked committee had been checking things over all morning to find out what was missing. So far the most important item was Janet Fairbank's suitcase. The committee, for Janet is Hans in the play, and her—perhaps I should say her—costume is most necessary. Janet was not to be seen. She's such a naughty young miss, she was probably at work hunting something to wear, and successfully. For just a few minutes past the appointed time the curtain ascended, and Hans appeared, most correctly clad.

Janet really did run away with the laurels. The rest of the cast was splendid, and the play, literally, a howling success, but Hans proved almost irresistible in the part. Perhaps it was because her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, sat "way down towards the front, where she could say her lines right to them."

There were other proud parents, too, in the watching rows. Josephine Denney and her mother, Mrs. Thomas C. Denney, were delighted with their family representative, Virginia, who made a blithe little Tieda. Mrs. Thomas C. Denney Jr. and her mother, Mrs. J. J. Warner, completed the quartet half way back in the house. Among the others who kept the applause rolling high were Mrs. Vaughn Spaulding and her two sons, Mrs. Kenneth Sawyer Goodman and Mrs. Ralph Peale, with their youthful convos, Katherine Daniels, Betty and Ann Dixon, Mrs. Russell Tyson, Mrs. C. B. Goodspeed, and Mrs. T. Philip Swift.

Day's News in Society

Invitations have been issued for the Junior Assembly to take place New Year's eve at the Fortnightly, but no one under 18 years of age will receive one, as the sponsors of this annual event are endeavoring to pattern after the New York and Philadelphia Junior assemblies, which include in their lists only the debutantes. Provision is to be made for the sub-debuts of New Year's ball on the evening of Jan. 1 at the Fortnightly.

Mrs. Robert Hunter and Mrs. John Russell are to be hostesses for the monthly meeting of the board of the Chicago Home for Convalescent Women and Children to take place at 11 o'clock this morning at the Women's Athletic club. Mrs. William McIlvaine is president of the board.

Rehearsals for the third Junior League children's play are to begin this week. "The Sleeping Beauty" has been adapted from the old fairy tale and is being presented during January on Saturday mornings at 10:30 o'clock at the Playhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester A. Wardwell, Miss Dorothy Jane Magie, and William Ashley Magie II, are to arrive tomorrow to visit their mother, Mrs. Frank Ogden Magie of 450 Oakdale avenue. Miss Marie Magie of 1008 North La Salle street, is being entertained extensively in Philadelphia, where she is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Drexel. Miss Rozet will return on Thursday.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Candyng Fruit.

There is one little trick that is vital to success, whether the business on hand is candyng some orange peel or the grapefruit, or just getting a jelly from the latter—or some apple put in brown bread or to use as a garnish or as an attractive accompaniment to cup custard or any pudding.

This little trick not only makes for success, but for economy and attractiveness. Orange peel, pineapple, the pectin part of the grapefruit, are all cooked first in one water or several, but some first red Jonathan apples need only the one cooking, and that in the sirup. For one large apple use only one cup of sugar, one-half cup of water and a tablespoon of white corn sirup. Stir until sugar is dissolved, bring to boil and skim, and then put in the apple and cook it gently, because even in a sirup it may break, though not with care.

Prepare the apples by washing, quartering them, coring, and then cutting the quarters into about four lengths.

Sunday Evening Club Hears an Appeal for Orphans of Near East

Dr. James I. Vance, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Nashville, Tenn., told the Sunday Evening club at Orchestra hall, last night, the need for near east relief still is imperative, though 10,000 orphans who had reached 16 years of age had been trained so they are self supporting.

"We are not simply running orphanages over there," said Dr. Vance. "We are establishing institutions. Shops have been built and work in carpentry, shoemaking, and silver-smithing are being carried on. In Russia there is a farm where 20,000 cattle are being bred. These activities will make for future support."

"Near east relief is a school of diplomacy and a cure for war. The near east is the breeding place for war and children there have been taught it is religious to hate one another. Other nations besides America are helping them to get a better idea. The children who are being helped are not the sum but the cream. They illustrate the survival of the fittest."

Dr. Vance said he had gained his knowledge at first hand and by long study and travel. "I consider," he said, "the work of the near east the best philanthropy America has ever fostered."

Dr. J. R. Nichols, who led in prayer, made special mention of the death of Samuel Gompers and prayed for his successor.

MEN'S FASHIONS

BY A. T. GALICO.

Eclipsing One's Tie.
NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondence.)—It's a sad thing to contemplate, the large number of good looking ties that are lost and gone forever as far as an attractive effect is concerned, because they are placed in a bad setting.

You may have a tie that cost five or six dollars, or a less expensive but still a handsome one, but surrounded it with the wrong shirt, an ugly suit, or a suit that is badly made, the tie is a pressing, and the tie loses all its charm.

I have seen many examples of this of late. For instance, a young man passed me the other day wearing a nice looking tie of brown and tan stripes. It was nothing extraordinary, but it was a tie that with the proper surroundings might have been the means of giving to the wearer the authoritative look of a well dressed man.

But the young man had chosen to wear with the tie a suit of cold gray that was the worst possible shade to combine with brown and tan, and a shirt of gray and white striped flannel. His hat was one of the bottle green variety, and his muffer of blue and yellow foulard. The tie was entirely lost in this motley array of colors that had little to do with one another.

But had the young man been a wise young man he would have done something like this: He would have worn his brown and tan tie with perhaps a brown suit, and if he hadn't any suit but the cold gray suit, he should not have worn the brown tie tie. The shirt might have been a white shirt striped with brown, or tan, or yellow, or even a contrasting color. But the muffer and hat should be in matching or harmonizing shades.

TOUGH TO LOSE

BY HOWARD MARTIN.

The usual display of fistcuffs, so frequently seen when Rock Island comes here, was not evident yesterday, but Gavin, a visiting player, was chased from the game after striking the referee, Bobby Cahn, comparatively half the size of the pugnacious Rock Island full back. The Bear players went to the rescue of the small arbiter, who seemed able to care for himself, even going as far as to take a poke at the angry Gavin.

As the contest was nothing more than a post season meeting, the defeat does not take from the Bears the national professional grid championship.

Culver City, Cal., Dec. 14.—[By the Associated Press].—Bennet: Hill drive.

ing his car at the record breaking average speed of 124.6 miles an hour, won the 250 mile race under the auspices of the American Automobile association here this afternoon, negotiating the distance in 1:53:47.25. Harry Haris was second, Tommy Milton third, Fred Comer fourth, and William S. Shattuck fifth.

Hill shattered BENNETT MILL, the 250 mile world record average of 118.17 miles per hour, made by Tommy Milton at Charlotte, N. C., in 1934. Hill's 150 miles per hour stop. Even the sixth place driver, J. S. Wilkins, shattered Milton's Charlotte record.

Though Hill took first honors in today's race, the result of the speed classic put the 1924 American Automobile Club record of 118.17 miles per hour in the dead hands of Jimmy Murphy, who killed a few months ago at Syracuse, N. Y. Earl Cooper, the only driver in the race with a chance to win the championship, lost that opportunity when he dropped out at the end of the seventeenth lap on account of engine trouble.

Hix Noses Out Milton.

Harry Hix's feat in nosing out Milton for second place, after having been forced to drop recious seconds in the pits for a tire charge, was the sensation of the race. With a terrific burst of speed, averaging around 133 miles an hour, the handicapped driver thrust back the miles, with only twenty still to go, until in the last quarter lap he overtook Milton.

Until Harry began his burst of speed in the final twenty miles the race seemed to lie entirely between Milton and Hill, this pair seasawing back and forth at the head of the field almost from the start.

Sixteen Starters.
About 60,000 fans saw the contest, which dedicated the newly built Culver City bowl. The race brings to a close the 1924 racing season of the American Automobile association. Sixteen cars roared past the starter's flag.

During Harper's régime, which terminated in 1914, Notre Dame applied for admission to the Big Ten conference. According to Harper's report on this application, Notre Dame was refused admission not because of its laxity in eligibility rules but for its similarity to a conference official had termed the association was large

STIFF Entrance Requirements.

The entrance requirements are as strict as those of the Big Ten and athletes must maintain a certain grade in the minimum number of college courses, according to D. E. Hilgartner Jr., former president of the Notre Dame Alumni Club of Chicago, who is now the athletic director of the department at abandoned three years ago, but the courses in grade school work are given.

Notre Dame does not believe in using an athlete below grade in his school work to exploit the institution.

The New York Times.

New York, Dec. 14. (Special.)

What the stock market brought into view last week was:

First, the fact of unusual unanimity in forecasting favorably the financial and industrial future.

Second, the disposition of a good part of the speculative public to "take profits" quickly on the least sign of reaction.

Third, the existence of another speculative contingent, which just now appears to look on "reactions" only as an invitation to rush in and buy.

This is an invitation, even if not unfamiliar situation. The successive movements of last week showed at least that the stock market, as Wall Street puts it, "has two sides," which usually means that excessive speculation for the rise will be automatically restrained.

The week's market events also showed, however, that it is present mood "mergers" and "dividend positions" appeal to the speculative imagination, as a "gold export movement" does not.

Yet Wall Street used to dislike gold export greatly.

Exports of $45,000,000 gold last week brought the month's outflow to date up to $22,000,000; a movement which is noteworthy as exceeding in half a month the shipments of any full month since August, 1920; also of turning the monthly gold import surplus into a monthly export for the first time since that date.

Bankers still in doubt.

As to whether the change means definite reversal of the movement, the bankers' opinion is divided, the best opinion of "redistribution" of the surplus gold reserves, even experienced bankers hesitate to say.

The circumstances are peculiar, as the main consignees are Germany, which has been buying gold for the reichbank with the proceeds of its foreign loans, regardless of exchange rates, and India, whose purchasing power is based on the rate of exchange on London, not directly on New York.

Still, it always is the case with gold movements, even when they respond to large economic influences, that they follow the line of relatively least resistance and of largest incentive to export.

In 1919, when we exported $25,000,000 gold and imported only $7,000,000, the outward flow commonly was ascribed to an inflated condition of our currency and credit market.

Here's Probable Explanation.

It was much more probably a result of the fact that, while our merchants were paying cash for their imports they were allowing foreigners who took our exports to pay the bill through notes indorsed by the American exporter and placed with American banks.

Although more than $100,000,000 of our gold went that year to India and China, $150,000,000 went to Argentina, Japan, and Spain, New York exchange on each of which countries actually was far enough above parity to have reached the normal "gold point."

Today we are not directly financing foreign buyers of our merchandise, but we have granted enormous credits through our loans to foreign governments and industries.

Sterling is at a discount, but it is 20 per cent nearer parity than it was in December, 1919; the new German reichsmark nominally is at parity, and New York rates on Holland, Sweden, and Switzerland already stand measurably above the par of exchange.

The commodity prices averaged 15.7 per cent of the pre-war level during the week, 14.7 during March, 1915, during the first quarter of 1917, 14.7 for the second quarter, 14.3 for September, and 14.7 for the third quarter.

For October, first month of the final quarter, commodities averaged 15.1, and the dollar $5.9 per cent war.

These are the figures of Prof. Irving Fisher. In the following table the index number shows prevailing prices compared with those of 1913, and the purchasing power represents what $1 would buy in the period covering, comparable with 1913:

SEES WAR
IN 'COMPE
NAVY BU

Differs with Who May

BY ARTHUR SEAR
Washington, D. C.
[Special.]—President Coolidge

lined to call a halt on agitation stressing the inadequacy of the sea and land defenses of the nation and demands that the United States match the navy building programs of Great Britain and Japan.

The executive has been aroused particularly by public statements by organizations and individuals representing Japan as feverishly bent on order to make war states, and urging America to build more and more than Japan is building.

Caused World War
Such alarms as these reduced competitive arms in the world
position, and the consequence of arriving the possible for the war their wars. He believed
If the United States to competition with ing warcraft it would likely, the President vestigal result would the two nations. Mr.
with deep concern the war on the United engaged in by some and also the public in this country treat between the two nations imminent.

Against Competition
Mr. Coolidge is developing friendly relations with Japan. A warm regards as too horrible. Consequently, the U. S. Navy is building competitive navy buildings. The President, has been greatly impressed at some of his own defenses of the nation.
They are being made at a very low level of efficiency, and many to strengthen the defenses to some year, the President has made a gigantic expenditure.

Disagrees with Secretary of the Navy to let congress limit navy's share of 5-8 ratio of naval construction not prepared to accept fact, there are suggestions Mr. Wilbur and naval defense that may be occasioned if the navy were to retire from the navy date.

Mr. Coolidge takes a firm aim always about the navy at the time of the Washington treaty. What the treaty sets forth the capital ships are when it comes to auxiliary ships the question is debatable.

Where Arguments
The Harding administration while the 5-5-5 naval treaty the information that it should be for military ships as well. It is expected, according to the opinion, to have as many as 10,000, and other warships in Britain and five-thousand.

Mr. Coolidge, however, is not so ready to regard the navy as a hindrance to growth as tending to competitive navy building which he wishes to stop. The President is in favor of approval to the purchase of the guns on our competitive British navy with the exception of the question of the size of the guns.
